FELDER EXONERATES BEAVERS, BUT SAYS LANFORD IS CORRUPT

Witnesses Summonsed in Dictograph Controversy, Although Foreman Says Vice Probe Is Not Complete

BEAVERS AND FELDER ASK INVESTIGATION

Felder's Charges Against Lanford to Be Heard With Dictograph Case—Felder Says the Records Are Forged

Four witnesses were called Wednesday morning by the Fulton county grand jury to testify in regard to the existence of vice in Atlanta. They were Colonel Thomas B. Felder, who was on the stand but a few minutes Tuesday; A. J. Young, a real estate man, J. E. Skaggs, agent of the Southern Express company, and Police Chief James L. Beavers.

Neither of these witnesses would indicate along what lines he was questioned by the grand jury. It is understood, however, that Colonel Felder submitted a supplementary list to the list of alleged disorderly houses furnished Tuesday by Attorney Carlisle Hutcheson and that he also turned over to the grand jury a number of affidavits relative to houses which are operating in the city without police interference.

Colonel Felder is said to have supplied evidence attacking the official integrity and moral character of Detective Chief Newport A. Lanford.

Chief Beavers, it is understood, was questioned at length concerning his vice crusades and the general moral condition of the city as he observes it. He was also asked, it is said, about Attorney Hutcheson's charge that he had failed to make raids upon disorderly houses which had been reported to him.

Upon leaving the grand jury room Chief Beavers stated that he could not discuss what had transpired there as he had been requested not to do so, but he admitted that he had been asked whether he thought his recent crusade against vice had bettered conditions in the city and that he had replied that it was his opinion that conditions were much better today than they had ever been be "".

The chief says he admitted that it was probable that some disorderly houses were operating surreptitiously but that he assured the grand jury that he was diligently endeavoring to obtain evidence against such places and that as fast as he got time evidence he made cases against the proprietors and inmates.

Messrs. Young and Skaggs are reported to have been interrogated relative to disorderly houses which may have come under their observation or which they may have information about.

A number of persons alleged in Attorney Hutcheson's testimony to be proprietors, managers and frequenters of disorderly houses, were summoned by the grand jury Wednesday, but were not called. At 1:45 p. m. the grand

COUNTY PAID HIGH FOR CHEAP GRADE OF ASPHALT

So States Resolution by County Commissioner Waters, Asking $4,417 Deduction

By a resolution introduced in the county board meeting Wednesday by County Commissioner Tull C. Waters, the board practically itself confronted with the statement that it had contracted for a certain high priced asphalt with which to pave Marietta street, had received and put down a cheaper grade of asphalt, and then had paid for the higher grade of asphalt. Therefore, the resolution concluded, the board should deduct $4,417.80, the estimated amount of over payment, from bills now due to the Barbour Asphalt company.

The board, of which all members were present except Comissioner Shelby Smith, referred the matter to the finance committee for report.

FILES EXAMINED.

The files of the board were examined by a special representative and the correspondence was found to be that the Barbour Asphalt company wrote to the board at its understanding was that Trinidad asphalt, and not Bermudez asphalt, was to be shipped; that the board replied "Ship as per contract." Mr. Waters' resolution, containing the other stated facts was based evidently on other papers in the board's files.

Mr. Waters' resolution stated among its whereasses that the county contracted with the Barbour Asphalt company last year for 210 tons of Bermudez asphalt, the best, for use on Marietta street repaving, the price to be $38.40 per ton. (This year the price for the same asphalt is slightly over $32.)

The resolution continued that for some reason unknown, the Barbour company shipped Trinidad asphalt, and Trinidad asphalt was used in the work.

PAID FOR BERMUDEZ.

It continued that the board paid the Barbour company for Bermudez asphalt which it ordered instead of for Trinidad asphalt, which it received, the amount of the payment being $18,436.36.

Inasmuch as no figures were quoted on Trindad last year by the Barbour company, continued the resolution, the exact value of the 210 tons of Trinidad received could be estimated only upon the bid made this year to supply Trinidad, the result showing that the true value of the asphalt upon this year's figures would have been $15,042.78, the difference being $4,417.80 in favor of the county. It was this amount which Commissioner Waters' resolution would withhold from amounts no wdue to the Barbour Asphalt company.

COUNCILMEN AGREE THAT CITY MUST HAVE MORE MONEY

Bond Issue, Special School Tax and Amendment to State Constitution Are Among the Plans Discussed

MAYOR WILL OPPOSE ISSUANCE OF BONDS

Declares He Doesn't Think the "People Will Vote Any More Bonds to Be Spent by That Gang Now in Council"

That the supreme court's decision in the crematory case puts the city of Atlanta in a position where it is obliged either to issue bonds or raise the tax rate in order to make the new improvements which are necessary, is the prevailing opinion among members of the general council.

They say the city's current revenue never was and never will be sufficient in any year to provide the new improvements for which there is a need and a demand.

Alderman John S. Candler pointed out in a speech on the floor of council Monday, the city has made practically every big improvement (exclusive of bond issue work) on what is called the "moral obligation" basis. It was on this basis that the city installed the pump that supplies the people's water, on this basis is that the auditorium was built, on this basis that the new city hall was purchased.

The city can do business on the moral obligation basis no longer. The supreme court has applied a literal construction to that clause of the state constitution which says that no municipality shall incur debts in a given year to a greater amount than its revenue for that year, except where bonds are issued. This simply means, in substance, that the city of Atlanta, as well as every other municipality in Georgia, must do business on a strictly cash basis.

Consequently Atlanta's city government confronts the question of where and how to get the money to make improvements that are obliged to be made.

The finance committee of council, being the ones directly called upon to find the money made necessary for immediate expenditure by the crematory decision, have come to the conclusion, as stated in Tuesday's Journal, that the way to get the money is by a bond issue, and accordingly will report a resolution to council Thursday afternoon recommending that steps be taken looking to that end.

A resolution of similar import already has been introduced in council, and passed, within the past few weeks, Councilman Thomson having started the bond issue ball to rolling at the council meeting two weeks previous to last Monday. His resolution provides for a special committee consisting of ten councilmen (one from each ward) and five citizens from the city at large to investigate the bond issue subject and report back to council their opinion as to the best course to be pursued.

While the issuance of bonds is favored by the general council almost to a man, it is not the only means of raising money which they are considering and discussing.

In the first place, they apprehend that Mayor Woodward, owing to his dislike for council, would oppose bonds if the question went before the people, and in this way they are not far wrong, as the mayor himself, discussing the situation with a Journal reporter Wednesday, remarked:

"Do you believe the people would vote more bonds to be spent by that gang in council? I don't think they would."

Hence council members are looking to an increase in the tax rate as a possible solution of the problem, and if they take this up it probably will be along the line of a special tax for schools.

To relieve the city budget of the burden of the school department, as they point out, would be equivalent almost to relieving it of $750,000 per year. In other words, it takes nearly this amount to run the schools. In a few years the schools will require all of this and more.

With $750,000 to spend for other things, the city could make rapid progress in all departments. It could improve and enlarge the park system. It could build a system of main thoroughfares commensurate with the city's needs, and could pave a great deal of the streets that are now unpaved. It could increase the police force and build fire stations in wards which now have no fire protection except the meager protection afforded by stations miles away. It could increase and bring up-to-date the facilities of the sanitary department by substituting auto trucks

SENATE PROBE CALLS IN LOBBYISTS TO BE GRILLED NEXT WEEK

Sensational Turn Is Taken in Lobby Investigation and Sixty So-Called Lobbyists Are Subpenaed

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The dragnet was spread today in the senate's probe for "the lobby." Subpenas for a score of men were issued.

It was generally understood here that some of the names were furnished by President Wilson and that others were those which developed in the testimony of senators. The new witnesses are to be heard next week. Some of the names are being kept secret, but Chairman Overman today gave out this partial list:

Aaron Gove, Denver; Dr. S. W. McClure, Salt Lake City, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association; Henry F. Oxnard, New York, prominent in the beet sugar industry; Edward F. Dickinson and Jules Godchaux, representing Louisiana sugar interests; Sidney M. Ballou, E. E. Paxton, H. D. Mead and Walter C. Smith, also understood to be interested in sugar tariff affairs; John F. Hunburg, New York; Harry Irwin, H. T. Alexander, Trenton, N. J.; Frank Gorman, Buford Lynch and John Carroll, all of Washington.

Some of these are men whom senators have testified appeared in a "legitimate capacity."

The list indicates the apparent purpose of the committee to question representatives of both the free sugar and anti-free sugar camps who have been conducting a vigorous campaign in Washington.

The investigating committee had progressed little more than half through the list of senators today and there were indications that Senator Overman would ask the senate tomorrow for an extension of the ten days allowed for the probe.

A flock of sergeant-at-arms started out today to summon the witnesses for next week, by which time the investigators will have finished taking testimony of senators and plunge into an examination of the socalled "lobbyists."

While the subpenaes are being served and the committee is preparing for the examination of new witnesses, senators

DR. JAMESON QUITS AS HEAD OF MERCER AT BOARD'S REQUEST

His Resignation, Effective at Once, Followed Resolutions of Trustees Calling for His Retirement as President

MACON, Ga., June 4.—Dr. S. Y. Jameson today tendered to the board of trustees his resignation as president of Mercer university, one of the best known denominational institutions in the south. The prudential committee of the university, with the exception of its constitutional members, also resigned. The resignations were requested in resolutions adopted by the trustees at a meeting held last night.

This action by Dr. Jameson and the prudential committee is declared to be the climax of friction which is said to have existed for some time between Dr. Jameson and the committee on one side and a majority of the members of the board of trustees on the other.

It is said the disagreement between Dr. Jameson and the trustees was suggested by the president's action in regard to fraternity organizations at the university and by alleged ruptures with members of the faculty.

A successor to Dr. Jameson probably will be named today.

MILITANT TRAMPLED BENEATH KING'S STEED

Suffragette Grasps Reins of King George's Race Horse, Anmer, at Epsom

(By Associated Press.)

EPSOM, June 4.—The most dramatic derby ever run on the historic course at Epsom Downs was accompanied today by a series of startling events.

Just before the finish a suffragette attempt to pull the bridle of the king's entry, Anmer, while he was running at top speed. The woman was fatally injured when the horse fell and the jockey was badly hurt.

The king and queen, scores of royalties and many Americans witnessed the incident.

The woman lies unconscious in the local hospital.

Her name is given as E. Davison and she is thought to be Miss Emily Wilding Davison, a member of the Woman's Social and Political union, who since 1909 has been sentenced eight different times to imprisonment for participation in suffragette outrages.

Emily Davison was the woman who assaulted a Baptist minister at Aberdeen station, mistaking him for David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer. Whenever she has been imprisoned she has started a "hunger strike" and has generally been cleared. She has been found hidden in the house or common three times and ejected.

The race itself was unusual. The favorite, Craganour, crossed the line first, but was promptly disqualified for "bumping" and was displaced by Aboyeur, a 100 to 1 shot.

In another race Jockey Whalley was seriously injured and his horse had to be shot.

Fifteen horses competed and the places were awarded to Louvois at 10 to 1 against and Great Sport at 20 to 1 against.

ATLANTA'S FOOD MEN BEGIN HOLIDAYS IN 3-MILE LONG PARADE

Great Parade Wednesday Scattered Souvenirs, Novelties and Confetti Along the City's Downtown Streets

The grocers and butchers of Atlanta today are taking a half holiday and celebrating the same with a great parade.

Starting from the state capitol shortly after 2 o'clock, the procession stretched a length of three miles—the longest ever held in Atlanta and the first of its kind in the city's history.

Throngs of people lined the sidewalk along the route of march and entered with unrestrained enthusiasm into the festive holiday spirit of the event. They cheered the forgeous floats as one after another moved past, greeted their friends in the parade with admiring comments, and scrambled for the souvenirs and advertising novelties scattered along the parade by the people in the wagons.

The purpose of the parade was twofold. First, it was a celebration of the Wednesday closing, the grocers and butchers having inaugurated a half-holiday on Wednesday through the months of June, July and August. Second, it was intended to attract the attention of the general public and impress them with the new order of things. In both ways the parade was a grand success.

CITY'S COMMISSARY THERE.

Practically the entire "commissary department" of the city—the whole food-selling department of the local business world—was in the parade. It was a splendid apotheasis of good things to eat. Everything was represented, from the pickle and the soda cracker to the choicest meats and the costliest delicatessen. Not only was it a pageant of the retail grocers and butchers—the men who serve the public directly—but also a procession of the wholesalers and jobbers and manufacturers, those great concerns which supply the retailers.

There were upwards of 1,000 vehicles, ranging all the way from small, one-horse wagons to huge automobile trucks carrying whole brass bands. They were decorated in all kinds of gorgeous de-

SENSATIONAL AFFIDAVIT MADE BY MINOLA M'KNIGHT, NEGRO COOK AT HOME OF L. M. FRANK

In This Affidavit Minola Tells of Conversation That Occurred Between Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Selig, in Which Mrs. Frank Is Alleged to Have Said Frank Was Drinking on Night of Tragedy, and That He Wanted a Pistol to Kill Himself

MRS. FRANK SAID, SO NEGRO COOK SWEARS, THAT FRANK MADE HER SLEEP ON THE FLOOR THAT NIGHT

Negro Says Further That Frank Came Home at 1:30 o'Clock on Fatal Saturday, but Remained Only About Ten Minutes, and That He Left Without Eating His Dinner—Affidavit Is Vague and Confused—It Is Given Here in Full

An affidavit, sworn to by Minola McKnight, the negro servant at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Selig, where Leo M. Frank and his wife live, was made public by Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford Wednesday afternoon. In the affidavit Minola McKnight tells of alleged conversations at the Selig home in which Mrs. Frank is quoted as having said that Frank was drunk on Saturday night, April 26, and that he made her sleep on a rug. The negro quotes Mrs. Frank further as saying that Mr. Frank couldn't understand how he could be guilty of murder, and that Frank had begged her for a pistol that he might shoot himself.

The negro says in her affidavit that she has been kindly treated and gives this as the reason for not having made her statement sooner. She swears that the affidavit is made of her own free will.

The affidavit is nearly all hearsay evidence, and therefore inadmissible in court.

The affidavit follows in full:

TEXT OF AFFIDAVIT.

STATE OF GEORGIA, County of Fulton:

Personally appeared before me, a notary public in and for the above state and county, Minola McKnight, who lives in the rear of 351 Pulliam street, Atlanta, Ga., who, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Saturday morning, April 26, 1913, Mr. Frank left home about 8 o'clock, and Albert, my husband, was there Saturday too; Albert got there I guess about a quarter after 1 and was there when Mr. Frank come for dinner, which was about half past one. Mr. Frank did not eat any dinner and he left in about ten minutes after he got there.

Mr. Frank come back to the house at 7 o'clock that night, and Albert was there when he got there. Albert had gone home that evening, but he come back, but I don't know what time he got there, but he come some time before Mr. Frank did, and Mr. Frank eat supper that night about 7 o'clock, and when I left about 8 o'clock I left Mr. Frank there.

Sunday morning I go tthere about 8 o'clock, and there was an automobile standing in front of the house, but I didn't pay any attention to it, but I saw a man in the automobile get a bucket of water and pour into it. Miss Lucile (Mr. Frank's wife) was down stairs, and Mr. and Mrs. Selig were up stairs. Albert was there Sunday morning, but I don't remember what time he got there. When I called them down to breakfast about half past eight I found that Mr. Frank was gone. Mr. and Mrs. Selig eat breakfast and Miss Lucile didn't eat until Mr. Frank come back and they eat breakfast together. I didn't hear them say anything at the breakfast table, but after dinner I understood them to say that a girl and Mr. Frank were caught at the office Saturday.

I don't know who said it, but Miss Lucile and Mr. and Mrs. Selig and Leo Frank were standing there talking after dinner. I didn't know the girl was killed until Monday evening. I understood them to say it was a Jew girl, and I asked Miss Lucile, and she said it was a Gentile.

On Tuesday Mr. Frank says to me, "It is mighty bad, Minola. I might have to go to jail about this girl, and I don't know anything about it."

I heard Mrs. Rauzin, Mrs. Frank's sister, tell Miss Lucile that it was mighty bad, and Miss Lucile said, "Yes, it is. I am going to get after her about it." I don't know what they were talking about.

WANTED TO KILL HIMSELF.

Sunday Miss Lucile said to Mrs. Selig that Mr. Frank didn't sleep so good Saturday night. She said he was drunk and wouldn't let her sleep with him, and she said she slept on the floor on the rug by the bed because he was drinking. Miss Lucile said Sunday that Mr. Frank told her Saturday night that he was in trouble, that he didn't know the reason why he would murder, and he told his wife to get his pistol and let him kill himself. I heard Miss Lucile say that to Mrs. Selig. It was Sunday morning that she said she slept on the floor on account of drinking. I haven't heard Miss Lucile say whether she believed it or not. I don't know why Mrs. Frank didn't come to see her husband, but it was a pretty good while before she come to see him, maybe two weeks. She would tell me, "Wasn't it mighty bad that he as locked up," and she said "Minola, I don't know what I am going to do."

HER WAGES INCREASED.

"When I left home to go to the solicitor general's office, they told me to mind what I said. They paid me $3.50 a week, but last week she paid me $4, and one week she paid me $6.50. But at the time of of this murder I was getting $3.50 a week, and the week right after the murder I don't remember how much they paid me. The next week $4, and the next week $4. One week Mrs. Selig gave me $5, but it was not for my work, and they didn't tell what it was for. They just said, 'Here is $5, Minola,' but of course I understood what they meant, but they didn't tell me anything at the time. I understood it was a tip for me to keep quiet. They would tell me to mind how I talked, and Miss Lucile would give me a hat."

Question: Was that the reason you didn't tell the solicitor yesterday all about this,—that Miss Lucile and the others had told you not to say anything about what had happened out there?"

"Yes, sir."

Question: "Is that true?"

"Yes, sir."

Question: "And that is the reason why you would rather have been locked up last night than tell this?"

"Yes, sir.

Question: "Has Mr. Pickett or Mr. Cravens or Mr. Campbell or myself (Detective Starnes, evidently), influenced you in any way or threatened you in any way to make this statement?"

"No, sir."

Question: "You make it of your own free will and accord, in their presence and the presence of Mr. Gordon, your attorney?"

"Yes, sir."

(Signed) "MINOLA M'KNIGHT."

"Sworn to and subscribed before me, this third day of June, 1913.

(signed). G. C. FEBUARY."

L. M. FRANK'S TRIAL WILL OCCUR WEEK OF JUNE 30

Although no definite decision has been arrived at by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, the indications are that Leo M. Frank, the pencil factory superintendent, who is under indictment for the murder of Mary Phagan, will be put on trial during the week beginning June 30, instead of the week of June 23, as had been expected.

It is understood that the solicitor will be ready with the prosecution for the later date, and that if the defense does not ask a delay the trial will begin at that time.

For several days Solicitor Dorsey, assisted by City Detectives Campbell and Starnes, has been preparing the case against Frank. In addition to the numerous affidavits obtained from prospective witnesses, the solicitor has had prepared a very large diagram of the pencil factory interior upon which he has indicated everything which he thinks will be of importance to the prosecution.

One rather mistifying entry on this diagram is the sketch of a shelf which is supposed to be in the private office of Superintendent Frank. This sketch is explained on the diagram as follows: "Shelf on which notes were found."

Just what notes are referred to cannot be learned. It has been understood that the only notes written about the murder were those two which James Conley, the negro sweeper, claims to have written at the dictation of Frank. If any other notes were found this fact has not been made public. Solicitor Dorsey refuses to explain the entry.

WON'T QUESTION CONLEY.

Before leaving police headquarters Wednesday morning to appear before the Fulton county grand jury in connection with the vice probe Detective-Chief N. A. Lanford announced that if there was to be any further quizzing of James Conley, the negro sweeper at the National pencil factory, it would occur at the negro's suggestion.

"I am satisfied with what Conley has sworn to concerning his part in the murder of Mary Phagan," declared Chief Lanford. "When he was returned to police headquarters from the jail last Saturday I told him that if he thought of anything else in connection with the murder that he wished to tell to have the turnkey notify me, and I would bring him to my office. I have not seen Conley since that time and have not heard from him.

"Should the negro let it be known that he has further revelations to make we will again interview him. In the meantime it is my purpose to leave him

ATLANTA PORT SURVEYOR WILL NOT BE ABOLISHED

McAdoo Approves Bill to Check Reorganization of Federal Customs Service

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—The proposed reorganization of the federal customs service, by which Savannah was to have been made the general headquarters in Georgia, has been scotched for the time being, to enable the new administration to perfect a plan that will be more acceptable and economical.

This means that the collectors' offices at Brunswick, Darien and St. Marys will continue and that the office of surveyor of the port at Atlanta will not be abolished.

Secretary of Treasury McAdoo today officially approved a bill introduced by Senator Fletcher, of Florida, providing for the postponement of the executive order by which it was proposed to merge all of these offices, not only in Georgia, but throughout the country. Mr. McAdoo recommends that the reorganization be postponed for a period of six months, during which time a new scheme will be worked out.

The senate commerce committee will favorably report the Fletcher bill tomorrow, and its passage will be expedited through by both branches of congress, as the Democrats are intent upon checking the reorganization, which would abolish hundreds of fat federal plums.

SENATE PROBE CALLS IN LOBBYISTS TO BE GRILLED NEXT WEEK

will continue to be examined. When the committee reassembled today it had nearly half of the senate still waiting.

"Social lobbying" in Washington justifies every word President Wilson uttered in regard to the presence of an "insidious" lobby at the capitol. Senator Kenyon of Iowa declared on the witness stand before the senate investigating committee. It was the first unequivocal statement in support of the president's attitude since the inquiry began.

Gunning for tariff lobbyists has, for the time being backed the tariff bill of the board. Consideration of the Underwood bill has become secondary. At the rate of progress attained at Monday's and Tuesday's sessions of the investigating committee it will be two weeks before the country gets the whole story of the lobby. And then it is a question how damning the news will be.

Just what information the president has given the senate committee is not known, for the reason that publicity is not invited at this time. The testimony being adduced by the committee from members of the upper chamber is being disseminated to the country as soon as it is spoken. As yet Washington sees take the investigation seriously, but the administration doesn't care much bout what Washington thinks, but rather looks to sentimen 'out of doors," as the president would say. Nevertheless, there don't appear to e much prospect of the inquiry developing anything of a startlingly new nature long as the present tack is maintained.

THE PRESENT COURSE OUTLINED

The present course is to examine the members of the senate to ascertain their knowledge of the lobby. There are ninety-six members, and it is doubtful if one-tenth of the membership will admit that he has seen and discussed with a lobbyist in the flesh. And this is du not so much because they want to conceal the country gets the whole story of the lobby. And then it is a question how damning the news will be.

GRASSHOPPERS APPEAR NOW OUT IN KANSAS

WASHINGTON, June 4.—"This looks like a grasshopper year," was the comment today of Prof. F. M. Webster, of the bureau of entomology, after the fourth outbreak of the invaders had been reported to him.

The latest appearance of the "hoppers" is in Kansas, previously affected being Mexico, Idaho and California. The department of agriculture regards the New Mexico outbreak so serious that Harrison E. Smith, an expert in the division of foreign insect investigations, has been ordered from Wellington, Kan., to the scene of trouble. He reported his arrival today at Amarillo, Tex. Further grasshopper raids in various parts of the country are looked for, although it is not believed by officials here that any of them will do great damage.

An army worm invasion, reported today near St. Louis, is giving the government's insect fighters considerable worry. Telegraphic instructions were sent to a department field agent to take immediate steps to combat the pests.

SOUTH GEORGIA VETERANS PLANNING BIG REUNION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ALBANY, Ga., June 4.—The Southwest Georgia battalion of Confederate Veterans will hold a big reunion gathering in Albany on June 13. LUMBERMEN URGE FAIR TREATMENT TO EMPLOYES

President of Manufacturers' Association Says Welfare of Workmen Is Important

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—"We should concern ourselves as much nationally about the welfare of our employes as of the stumpage itself."

With these words Everett G. Griggs, of Tacoma, Wash., president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, prefaced an appeal for thoughtful treatment of the working man in the lumber industry, in his address before the annual convention of the organization, which opened here today.

"Efficient labor and proper equipment mean as much in the final cost of lumber to the consumer as the log itself," he continued. "Our business affects the lives of more employes than any other in the United States."

President Griggs said the workmen's compensation law as tried out in the state of Washington should be a success and the lumbermen of the state "as a unit indorsed the general effect of the measure."

GET YOUR ANSWER BOOK NOW.

We wish all contestants would come in or send in for their Answer Book within the next ten days. By doing that you will confer a favor on us, giving us more time to properly take care of your order and at the same time making sure that you will get one. While we believe we have ordered a sufficient number of Answer Books to supply every contestant with one, the demand for them may be heavier than last year and in the rush of the closing days of the Campaign we may run short of Answer Books and would not have time to get a new supply of them in. So by getting yours now you will confer a favor on The Journal and make it cheaper for yourself to submit the full number of Answers that you are entitled to in this delightful Campaign. Of course, after the Answer Books are all disposed of you would still have the right to submit the full ten answers on titles, but would have to use a picture and coupon for every answer you would submit, as they cost you two cents each, it is to your interest to get an Answer Book now with the first 35 pictures free, and the right to ten answers for each title, using only one of each picture.

Think it over and if you want to save money and increase your chances of winning a big prize, send in for an Answer Book while we still have plenty of them on hand.

LINCOLN M'CONNELL TO BE TABERNACLE PASTOR

Widely-Known Evangelist Accepts Invitation to Baptist Pulpit in Atlanta

The Rev. Mr. Lincoln McConnell has accepted the pastorate of the Tabernacle Baptist church, and will assume the charge on September 1.

Definite acceptance of the call extended about a month ago to Mr. McConnell by the pulpit supply committee was received in the form of a telegram Wednesday morning by A. C. Boatman, chairman of that committee.

Mr. McConnell's acceptance means that a new note—the note of evangelism—will be sounded in the Tabernacle. He himself is one of the most widely known among successful evangelists. He formerly held a charge in Atlanta and is remembered here by many.

Here is the wire received by Mr. Boatman. It was despatched from Cape Girardeau, Mo.

"I have arranged lyceum contract to suit, and am pleased to say that I can accept the Tabernacle pastorate. I cannot reach Atlanta till September 1, but will arrange to take charge at that time. Am in a great revival meeting here that will take entire month.

"LINCOLN M'CONNELL."

Mr. Boatman, who is traffic manager for the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose company and is in charge also of the music at the Tabernacle, stated Wednesday morning that Dr. E. M. Poteat, president of Furman university, Greenwood, S. C., will supply in the Tabernacle pulpit next Sunday and repeatedly thereafter during the time intervening until Mr. McConnell comes. Other ministers also will be invited to supply from time to time.

Mr. McConnell, the new pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, will succeed Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, of New York, in that charge. Mr. MacArthur having resigned and returned to New York several months ago. The only previous pastor, Dr. Len G. Broughton, founder of the Tabernacle, is engaged now in the pulpit of Christ church, London.

Mr. McConnell himself is credited with a principal part in the foundation of another of Atlanta's larger institutional churches—the Wesley Memorial Methodist church. It is said that the foundation of that church was due in considerable measure to his efforts, he being then a minister in the Methodist conference. After two years in the pastorate of Wesley Memorial, Mr. McConnell took up evangelistic and lyceum work. About two years ago he conducted a big revival in the new Wesley Memorial church in Atlanta. Some time after that, while in Kansas City, Mo., he became a member of the First Baptist church of that city and joined the Baptist ministry, continuing his evangelistic and lyceum work.

Mr. McConnell owns a magnificent 1,100-acre plantation known as "The Pines," near Yatesville, Upson county, middle Georgia, and makes that his permanent home. His wife and three boys are understood to be there now. His eldest child and only daughter is married and lives in Hastings, Neb.

THEATERS

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and Pictures.

There are several acts on this week's program at the busy Forsyth worthy of headline honors. There is not an act in the combination that has failed to thoroughly please and entertain, and to contribute individual worth to the success of the bill as a whole.

Starting off with the Caits brothers, a duo of dancers better than the average, the show goes spinning right along. The midget in the act is one of the most perfect dancers seen on any local stage. The little man is remarkably clever and wins the admiration of the theatergoers right at the start. Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, whose former visits to Atlanta made friends for them, keep things going in a good form, with songs and patter, and then comes a real comedy offering in Ward & Curran's stagedoor oddity. Jack Hazard tells stories that are interesting and funny, and Seldom's models hold interest and win applause. Wit this good foundation already Lillian Shaw comes on as a dainty dessert and scores stronger than ever before in her career. The performance closes with a wonderful exhibition by the Three Alex, who do some sensational work in modern gymnastics.

A musical show full of tuneful numbers, a scenic production with pretty light effects and dainty costumes, and a really clever company, some of the features that should make "The College Girls," this week's Bijou attraction, one of the best offering that will appear this season at the Bijou. From the minute the curtain goes up on the first act, to the closing of the show, there seems to be no let up in the applause and laughter, and the show moves at a pace that will make it exceedingly difficult for other talbloids to follow. The company is composed of some twenty people. There are at least a dozen song hits that demand several encores before the audience seems to be satisfied. "The College Girls" as an attraction at bargain prices, is somewhat unusual. There will be the usual matinee during the week at 3 o'clock, and two matinees on Monday and Saturday at 2:30 and 4. Night shows, 7:30 and 9.

29-DAY TERMS WILL BE UTILIZED BY RECORDER

Novelty to Remain "as Long as Mayor Interferes," Says Broyles

City Recorder Nash R. Broyles is planning to block Mayor Woodward in the latter's alleged endeavors to free convicted whisky sellers by exercising his right of pardon. The city judge announced to a Journal reporter Wednesday morning that in the future when a person is convicted of violating the city liquor laws he will impose a fine of twenty-nine days instead of thirty. This places the man out of the jurisdiction of the mayor.

Under the law the mayor has the right to paron or reduce the fine of a defendant if a jail sentence of thirty or more days or a fine of $50 or more is imposed. If the penalty is less than this, he can act only on the recommendation of the recorder.

In several instances during the past few months, according to Recorder Broyles, the mayor has retarded Chief Beavers in his anti-vice work and encouraged law-breakers, says Judge Broyles, by reversing the decisions of the municipal court. In recent statements Recorder Broyles has condemned severely this alleged attitude of Mayor Woodward.

Wednesday morning he said:

"As long as Mayor Woodward persists in interfering with the proper ministration of justice through my court, by interfering with my decisions, I am going to impose twenty-nine-day fines on whisky sellers instead of thirty days. Of course, I will do this only in the case of notorious blind tigers who have been found guilty before and are apparently under the protection of the mayor. I do not want to persecute anybody. This rule will not apply to first offenders or those cases in which I do not anticipate interference from Mayor Woodward."

Monday afternoon Recorder Broyles began his new policy by sentencing T. R. Parsons to spend twenty-nine days in jail after he had found him guilty of violating the city liquor law.

BRIDGEMAN KILLED AT HIS WORK ON TRESTLE

W. B. Tate Crushed to Death While Building Trestle at Liddell Crossing

W. B. Tate, a bridge worker, was crushed to death early Wednesday morning while working on a trestle at Liddell's crossing, several miles from Atlanta, on the Southern railroad.

Tate was working on one end of a trestle being built there, when the structure swayed forward. He was thrown between the heavy timbers of the trestle and the abutment, and was mashed almost to a pulp.

An ambulance was called and the dying man placed in it. Before the machine could reach the Grady hospital Tate passed away. Tate was forty-five years of age and came to Atlanta from Greenville, S. C.

ATLANTA ELKS TO CONDUCT MR. GUY SMITH'S FUNERAL

Former Atlantian Died Sunday Midnight at Sea on Way to Brunswick

The Atlanta lodge of Elks will conduct the ritual funeral of Mr. Guy Smith, an old Atlantian of former days, at Patterson's undertaking establishment on Forsyth street at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Smith retained his membership in the Atlanta lodge until his death, though he moved to Philadelphia several years ago.

News of his death was received with profound regret Tuesday by his old friends in this city. He passed away shortly after midnight Sunday aboard the steamship Quantico, of the Merchants and Miners' line, while the steamer was off the South Carolina coast. He had retired in apparent good health. His wife, awaking, found him dead. A physician aboard stated that his death had been due to heart failure. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were en route to Brunswick, where they have relatives. Only his widow survives the deceased man.

ENTIRE ARMY ON PACIFIC COULD NOT STOP INVASION

This Declaration Made by General R. K. Evans—He Gives Reasons Why

That the entire standing army of the United States if scattered strategically along the Pacific coast would be unable to cope with an invasion by the Japanese and prevent them from taking the principal cities of the far west, is the startling announcement made to The Journal Wednesday morning by Brigadier General Robert K. Evans, commander of the second brigade of the first division.

General Evans has just returned from an extended tour which included Washington, D. C., and army posts in the middle west where portions of the second brigade are stationed. He pointed out the fact that the entire American fleet of twenty-six battleships were on the Atlantic coast with no defenses on the Pacific save the forts and a maximum of 5,000 trained soldiers at the present time.

In case the entire fleet of ships together, General Evans points out that this country is doing the only logical thing. He points to the Russo-Japanese war when the Russians divided their fleet only to have it destroyed piecemeal by the little yellow men. Such a policy on the part of the United States would be folly, he says.

WEAKNESS IN DIVISION.

"Our naval fleet on the Atlantic coast," said the general, "could and would successfully withstand any attack, but once we divided it, keeping thirteen of the ships on this coast and the other half on the Pacific, we would suffer the same inevitable sea defeat of the Russians. For that reason the entire fleet is being kept together.

"On the Pacific coast, as has been said, there are no ships, and only the forts that are able to shoot twelve miles. Of course an invading fleet of battleships and transports would not get within range, but effect a landing behind some cliff safely out of the range and with their infantry attack the coast defenses from the rear. All of our forts are open, except from the front, and their capture would be an easy matter unless we had sufficient infantry there to drive the invaders back.

"This, as I have said, we have not, and such is the condition at present.

JAP PROCEDURE.

"It is natural to suppose that the Japanese would first take up their abode in the Philippines and the island of Hawaii. Both would be easy matters with our present fighting force in both places and the next point of attack would naturally be the Pacific coast.

"That they could gain a foothold there and remain for some time no one who is acquainted with the conditions of affairs can deny. And they would take our principal cities on the coast from north to south. There would be no depredations, however, for any pillaging. The Japanese are well disciplined soldiers and no harm would come to the non-combatants. Just the same the spoils of war belong to the victor and there would be nothing to prevent a country from demanding, $50,000,000 from the citizens of San Francisco for protection.

"The day of formally declaring war months ahead has passed into history. War is war, and it is commenced and carried on as such. It is true that we gave England notice in 1812 and were just as courteous to Spain, but it is mistaken idea that such a practice is considered essential between two world powers.

NINETY DAYS FROM COAST.

"As was the case in the Russo-Japanese war, the Japs could recall their ambassador, have him demand his passports, which is virtually a declaration of the severance of diplomatic relations, and have their fleet within five days of our shores. Bear in mind the fact that our fleet is fully ninety days from the Pacific coast.

"The invasion of the west would be well under way before he could be able to muster enough troops to even stop them and even the army under colors now is inadequate to go forth and successfully combat with the army Japan is able to and would send over should they decide on such a policy.

"It is a pitiable fact that the American people are in such ignorance of the needs of the army, which is in reality the backbone of defense to any country. The navy and the coast defenses might be overcome, but with trained men in the interior to back them up, no force could ever gain a foothold on American soil.

"Give us a mobile army of 1 per cent of the entire population of the country or a soldier to every 100 inhabitants and there would never be any fear of a foreign invasion. Armies are not made overnight, nor in a month or months, but after long service. Yet the people of the United States and the silver tongued orators would have you believe that thousands of men are today ready to go to battle.

"Just what the real attitude of the Japanese is no one knows. They are a secretive people and keep their plans well guarded. In Washington where I have been for some time making final arrangements for the international shooting tournament, to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, commencing August 15, nothing definite is known in official circles as to what may come out of the Jap controversy.

They are a people who would war with another country rather than be split with internal dissension, as was the case of Napoleon III. He saw his empire tottering and accordingly picked a fuss with Germany. France was defeated, but the dissension was forgotten.

"If official Washington knows anything it will not tell, and right now we are in the dark as to what Japan may be doing."

signs, and as they moved through the streets they left a swirl of confetti and souvenirs in their wake. The famous Mardi Gras festivals of New Orleans have produced few more beautiful floats than some of the big and elaborate affairs of this parade.

It had also the element of military pomp and splendor, what with so many mounted policemen, and brass bands, and marshals and aides riding back and forth, with red sashes and waving plumes. Nor was the comedy lacking, as members of the men who marched afoot wore gaudy and picturesque costumes.

The parade began to form about 1 o'clock and soon filled the streets in the neighborhood of the capitol for many blocks in every direction.

A battalion of mounted policemeh headed the parade to clear the streets and keep the spectators back inside the curblines.

After them rode Harry L. Schlesinger and D. Nym McCullough, the latter on the fine Kentucky thoroughbred which has won many horse show blue ribbons.

THE PARADE ITSELF.

The marshals were followed by the Fifth Regiment band in an automobile truck, and behind the band rode the holiday committee of the grocers and butchers' association in wagons and trucks, escorted by Aides Cowan and Mosley, with their assistants, Messrs. Mildred Phelps, J. Alvin Word, H. A. Bishop and Ed R. Buchanan.

The came the retail grocers' wagons, hundreds of them, gaily decorated and loaded down with the employes of the stores, who dealt out souvenirs, advertising novelties and confetti along the way.

The Marist college band, in an auto truck, was next in line, followed by another section of grocers' wagons, and after the latter were the wagons of the butchers and market men, all a-flutter with bunting, flags and decorations.

Next came the wagons of the packing houses, painted in brigut colors, washed and polished for the parade, the horses and mules groomed and sheared, the harness black and the buckles shining. The Greater Atlanta Boys' club band headed the packing house wagons, and in charge of this division were Chief Aid M. J. Burton and his assistants, Messrs. Williams, Evans, King and Norman.

The commission merchants and jobbers occupied the division behind the packers. They were represented by a fleet of auto trucks, including many gorgeous floats, and were escorted by Chief Aid J. C. McNair and his assistants, J. J. McCarthy, D. G. McNair, J. H. Walker, Willis Reisman and Miller M. White.

BAKERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

Following these came the bakers and manufacturers, another big division which made a fine showing. It was headed by Wedemeyer's band in an automobile truck and was escorted by Chief Aid J. J. Merritt with his assistants, J. N. Willis, L. C. Thompson and W. E. Baldwin.

Then came the ice wagons, and a notable feature of this division was the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation's fleet of automobile trucks, each one painted yellow, with red lettering. They were escorted by Chief Aid C. J. McCoy, with a corps of assistants.

Bringing up the rear was a special division consisting of wagons representing a variety of trades, including manufacturers, laundrymen, clothiers, haberdashers, etc.

The parade moved down Washington street to Fair, in Fair to Brotherton, in Brotherton to Whitehall, up Whitehall to Peachtree, out Peachtree to North avenue, down North avenue to West Peachtree, and back West Peachtree to Five points, where it dispersed.

At the intersection of Baker with Peachtree and West Peachtree streets the marshals, assistant marshals, aides and assistant aides drew up in line and reviewed the parade as it returned to the city.

The balance of the afternoon and the evening will be spent downtown by the various merchants in the parade, together with their employes and friends, in a general good time program. They will invade the "movies," the theaters, the soda fountains and take in a number of special amusements arranged for the occasion.

jury adjourned and excused all witnesses until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

TO PROBE DICTOGRAPH EPISODE.

It is expected that on Thursday or Friday the grand jury will begin a probe into the alleged dictograph conversations, in which Colonel Felder, Mayor Woodward, C. C. Jones, E. O. Miles, G. C. Febuary and A. S. Colyar figure. Subpenas have been issued for a number of witnesses to testify in such an investigation.

The grand jury has, it is said, yielded to the demands of Colonel Felder and Chief Beavers to make a thorough investigation of the dictograph episode. Colonel Felder charges that the dictograph records were forged and promises to make sensational disclosures when the investigation is begun. He says that attorneys and court officials agree with him that even if the records were true, he had violated no law, and would not be subject to indictment on any count.

The city detectives expect the dictograph records to prove that Colonel Felder sought to bribe G. C. Febuary, a clerk in the detective department, to furnish him with affidavits and other papers relating to the Phagan murder case.

Foreman Lewis H. Beck states that the vice probe will hardly be completed before Thursday afternoon, and for this reason he says he did not anticipate that the investigation of the dictograph incident could be started on Thursday. This would indicate that the latter investigation will be begun Friday morning.

"We've Started a General Housecleaning," Says Felder

"Well, if we've done nothing else we have caused a general house cleaning in Atlanta," remarked Colonel Thomas R. Felder when he walked into the anteroom of the grand jury chamber Wednesday morning.

"Six places closed up last night and now claim to be as white as snow." A general exodus seems to have begun." Turning to City Detective John Black Colonel Felder said: "I had men out with your men all of last night, and the indications are that a mighty hurried clean-up is in progress."

"You didn't have any men with me," replied Detective Black, "for I was home in bed."

"I had them out with the city detectives, all right," responded Colonel Felder.

Police Chief James L. Beavers and Detective Chief N. A. Lanford were walking from the ante-room when Colonel Felder arrived. Having been excused until noon by Foreman Lewis H. Beck, of the grand jury.

Colonel Felder called to Chief Beavers and began a conversation with him in the presence of a number of newspaper men and court house attaches.

"You can publish what I say, if you wish," announced Colonel Felder.

"You are the man doing the publishing, I am not," answered Chief Beavers.

Then spoke Colonel Felder: "Chief, I have never made any statement attacking your personal character or your official integrity. I am not responsible for that so-called dictograph record. At a later date I will show you that I am not."

Beavers: "Does that mean that you've never charged me with being corrupt?"

NEVER CHARGED CORRUPTION.

Felder: "No, sir; I certainly have not."

Beavers: "Has anybody else in your presence charged me with being corrupt?"

Felder: "Yes, someone else has, and I will tell you about it sometime. I don't want to go into that now."

Beavers: "Well, I would like to know who it was."

Felder: "It will come out at the proper time."

Beavers: "Well, I want to say whoever did make such a charge told a malicious falsehood."

Felder: "Some time ago I had a long conference with Mr. Marion Jackson, of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, and I told him that I had not charged you with any official corruption and also that I had not attacked your moral character. I did charge it to the chief of the other department (presumably referring to Detective Chief N. A. Lanford), and I will furnish good and aboundant proof to establish that charge."

This closed the conversation and a moment later Chief Beavers left the room.

Colonel Felder announced to those about him that some time later he would prove that Chief Lanford is corrupt, and that all also knew that those alleged dictograph records were forged," he said.

"I am not going to allow Lanford to hide behind the skirts of Febuary and Colyar."

Colonel Felder referred to Stenographer George M. Gentry's affidavit attesting the accuracy of the dictograph records and intimated that he had obtained an affidavit from Gentry which contained startling disclosures.

Colonel Felder declares that attorneys and court officials have assured him that, even if everything contained in the alleged dictographed records was true and proven, he has violated no law and would not be subject to indictment on any count.

Detective Chief Lanford made a statement Wednesday afternoon replying to Colonel Felder's charge that his department was corruptly administered. He declared that if there was anything wrong in his department he wanted it shown up. Concerning Colonel Felder's intimation that A. S. Colyar had sold out Chief Lanford declared he didn't know anything about it; that he was not involved and not interested in whether Colyar sold out or not.

While before the grand jury Tuesday Colonel Felder says he urged the grand jury to investigate the alleged dictograph episode, and Wednesday morning he stated that he would continue to urge such an investigation. He intimated that if such an inquiry was instituted he would make sensational allegations against the chief of detectives and possibly several others.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey was before the grand jury for about an hour Wednesday morning, during which it is understood he discussed the vice investigation with the members and also the advisability of a probe into the alleged dictograph incident.

FELDER FIRST WITNESS.

Colonel Felder, who was before the grand jury for about fifteen minutes Tuesday, was the first witness called Wednesday morning. He was sent for immediately following the conference with the solicitor.

The central figure of the vice crusade, Police Chief James L. Beavers, was one of the several witnesses who were about the court house when the session opened.

Chief Beavers, who, since the board of police commissioners again has given him full authority, has put his famous vice squad of twenty-two plain clothes men back in harness, declared that he could not understand the attitude of some of the witnesses who have appeared before the probers.

"Some of those men who now tell of the terrible vice conditions in Atlanta," the police official said, "were the very people who raised the loudest voices against me when my men were particularly active in their fight against vice."

"My position," continued the chief, "has never changed. I will make arrests whenever I can secure sufficient evidence to warrant a raid."

Chief Beavers declared that he is now particularly anxious to get Attorney Carl Hutcheson's promised list of thirty houses with evidence against the owners.

Mr. Hutcheson stated on leaving the grand jury room Tuesday that he has furnished the probers with the names of about thirty places, hotels and small houses where vice flourishes, he says, and that in many instances he gave the grand jury sufficient evidence to warrant indictments.

WHAT WILL JURY DO?

There is much speculation over the probable action or the grand jury in the matter.

The question is, Will the grand jury return indictments on the testimony given before it, or will the grand jury simply formulate a report on vice conditions to be embodied in its presentments to the superior court, when it is discharged during the first week in July?

Owing to a remark made to reporters by Foreman Lewis H. Beck soon after the vice probe was inaugurated, it is inferred that the latter course is probable.

Mr. Beck stated that the jury was making a general, not specific, investigation into vice conditions in Atlanta.

COUNCILMEN AGREE THAT CITY MUST HAVE MORE MONEY

for mule carts and by providing additional street flushing machines to take the place of the out-of-date and unsanitary street sweepers. In short, an additional surplus of $750,000, together with what the city now has, would give something like $1,000,000 to spend every year and this would be sufficient to relieve the situation for several years to come.

STILL ANOTHER PLAN.

A number of different plans will be advanced in the near future. In addition to the bond issue plan and the school tax plan, a plan is being discussed which involves an amendment to the state constitution. Alderman Candler will probably introduce it Thursday afternoon. It will be a request to the legislature to submit to the voters of the state the question of amending the constitution so as to permit municipalities of more than 100,000 population (which would apply only to Atlanta) to issue bonds upon consent of two-thirds of those voting. Under the state constitution, no municipality now can issue bonds except by consent of two-thirds of all the registered voters, which makes the carrying of bonds extremely difficult.

in solitary confinement and to his own meditations. If he has not told the whole truth he will, I believe, send for me within the next few days."

After adjourning their meeting Wednesday the four members of the county board—General Clifford L. Anderson, W. T. Winn, S. B. Turman and T. C. Waters—held a half hour's conference with Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey. Although no party to the conference would discuss the subject of the conference, it is understood the solicitor desired to call the board's attention to the heavy expense which was being entailed upon his office by his investigation of the Phagan murder mystery.

Some weeks ago Chairman Shelby Smith, of the county board, announced that sufficient funds would be provided by the county to enable the solicitor to make a most searching investigation. It is understood that the solicitor wished to acquaint the board with the necessity for a sufficient appropriation to cover these expenses which are proving quite heavy.

Wife and I Are Friends of INSTANT POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

"I used to drink coffee—was nervous and irritable. Wife said so.

"So when the new food-drink, Instant Postum, came along she said to herself: 'Here's where I break Jack of the coffee habit.'

"Instant Postum is good stuff. I sleep better, smile more, and miss my indigestion."

A level teaspoonful of Instant Postum in an ordinary cup of hot water dissolves instantly and makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in cup of hot water.

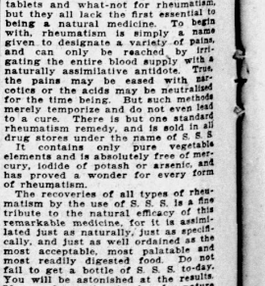
Rheumatic Blood is Whole Story

Sciatica, Lumbago, and Described Muscular Rheumatism Cured.



"I am well and happy."

You Will Feel Like an Acrobat After Using S. S. S.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatism remedy, and is sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S.

It contains only pure vegetable elements and is absolutely free of mercury, iodide of potash or arsenic, and has proved a wonder for every form of rheumatism.

The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a fine tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a free specialist confidentially, write to The Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

"HOME-COMING" DAY WAS BIG AFFAIR IN DECATUR

Program of Speeches, Cornerstone Laying, Tribute to Jefferson Davis and Smoker

Leading citizens of DeKalb county and many citizens of Atlanta attended homecoming day in Decatur Tuesday. The event was celebrated jointly with the birthday of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, adding a patriotic touch to the impressive exercises.

The day's program was opened with an address by Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the State Agricultural college. He was followed by Chairman C. Murphy Candler, of the state railroad commission, who spoke on the life and work of Jefferson Davis. Representative-elect R. F. Smith urged reasons why the Fifth District Agricultural school should be re-established in DeKalb county.

The event of the day was the laying of the cornerstone of the new $25,000 school building under the auspices of the Decatur Masons. Past Grand Master George M. Napier, of the Georgia Masons, presided over the ceremonies. J. Howell Green, Hooper Alexander and John A. Montgomery were the speakers.

A smoker in the court house at 6:30 o'clock brought the exercises of the day to a close. Speeches were made by Wilmer L. Moore, Charles J. Haden, Walter G. Cooper, Forrest Adair, Mayor John A. Montgomery, Alonzo M. Field, R. F. Gilliam and R. W. Walker.

REPRESENTATIVE M'CRORY PUTS UP ANOTHER QUIZ

Asks Why Percentages Differ on School Book Cost—More Answers

More answers to that arithmetical problem submitted to The Journal's readers by Representative C. R. McCrory, of Ellaville, continue to pour in, yet differing in dollars and cents as to the correct answer, with but two exceptions.

Mr. McCrory has written to The Journal the following letter in reference to an answer received from H. V. Casey, giving the price of each book separately:

"H. V. Casey, in answer to my problem, as follows:

"If Georgia people pay $1.75 for the first five readers and arithmetic, and the same books cost in Ontario 59c, and Georgia buys each year one million dollars' worth of books, what would Ontario pay for same books? He says that Georgia pays 1.96.61 per cent more than Ontario. Then why is this true? The cost of each book is as follows:

"In Ontario, primer, 4c; first reader, 4c; second reader, 5c; third reader, 14c; fourth reader, 16c; arithmetic, 10c.

"In Georgia the cost is: Primer, 25c; first reader, 20c; second reader, 25c; third reader, 30c; fourth reader, 35c; arithmetic, 40c.

"Now, commencing at the primer, the difference is 525 per cent more in Georgia, and finding the difference on each book makes on the six books 1467 per cent more, and this, divided by six, makes an average of 244 per cent on the books.

"Will some one please answer why the answer is not the same when you take each book separately instead of using the totals of the cost of the books?

"No one doubts that Georgia people are paying out over one million dollars a year for school books, and I would like for some one, even a school book agent, to answer the question why we cannot have school books as cheap as the people in Ontario buy them.

"I do not see any reason to give the good book people over six hundred thousand dollars each year as we are now doing.

(Signed) "C. R. MCRORY."

WARDEN JONES SUED BY PRISONER HE WHIPPED?

Bellwood Camp Prisoner Brings Suit for $10,000 Damages Against Warden

$10,000 is the amount of damages asked in a suit brought against Warden Oscar F. Jones, of the Bellwood camp of the Fulton county convict system, by John Birt, whose case is now under investigation by the prison commission. Birt, who was given twelve months for burglary, claims that on July 2, the day he was sent to the camp, that he was unmercifully whipped by a leather strop in the hands of Warden Jones and that his suffering was so great he had to be taken to the hospital.

Birt is represented by Attorney C. G. Battle, who states that the man told him he was whipped because he cursed on the way to the camp. "He might have deserved a whipping," stated the attorney, "but no man should have been treated in the brutal way he claims he was."

The man claims in his petition that Warden Jones gave him seventy-two lashes with a leather strop, and also kicked him and beat him about the face until he was lame and sore.

The prisoner claims that when he was in the camp that he was mistreated by another employe of the county, and for this he will bring another suit.

He claims that he weighed 180 pounds when he went to the camp, and that his earning capacity was $50 per month. His weight has been reduced to 140 pounds his petition states and his earning capacity has been lessened three-fourths.

The New Crematory.

In providing for the prompt purchase of the new crematory, even at the sacrifice or delay of other sorely needed improvements, Council has taken the only course consistent with its duty and with the public's welfare—the only course, indeed, which the stubborn facts of the situation left open. The Supreme Court having ruled that one Council may not recommend to its successors in office the payment of any financial obligation, for whatever exigencies or under whatever conditions it might be incurred, it became necessary either to buy the crematory forthwith or to expose the city to the risk of an epidemic of diseases. The latter Council dared not do; and, so, by suspending a number of important enterprises funds sufficient to pay for the new plant within the current year have been provided.

Regrettable as it is that so many worthy claims, such as those for street improvements, schools, hospitals and other commendable projects, are thus put aside, the community has cause for keen satisfaction that the one supreme need of the hour, that of protecting its health, has been met. Atlanta enters the summer with liberal assurance that the menace of those diseases which spring from neglected sanitary safeguards is reduced to a minimum and that her record as a healthful city will be higher than ever before.

At the same time, we cannot escape the fact that in order to secure this protection, the municipal government has had to forego divers improvements to *which taxpayers are entitled. Here we have a spe*cific and striking instance of the failure of our present system to measure up to a practical test of efficiency. This is not a question to be debated; it is simply a fact which every citizen may observe and interpret as he will.

The crop of canned peaches will probably be short.

Some men manage to leap into fame by being always on the jump.

A Record Year For Good Crops.

Kansas is piping loudly of prosperity and naturally so, for Government reports estimate that the wheat yield of that commonwealth will this year amount to nearly one hundred and eighteen million bushels. "And by the same token" comments the Baltimore Star, "there is promise of a record-breaking wheat crop throughout the great central winter-wheat area. It is expected that the winter wheat crop which will be harvested between the twentieth of June and the tenth of July, will exceed five hundred and fifty million bushels."

If new assurance of a plenteous year, a year rich in hope for the country's business interests, were needed, surely such evidence as this would suffice. In 1909, the record twelvemonth for wheat production in the United States, the total yield was seven hundred and thirty-seven million, one hundred and seventy-nine thousand bushels. According to the present outlook, the yield for the current year will exceed eight hundred and fifty million bushels; and, as one observer remarks, "the winter wheat crop is so nearly made that danger from drought or insects is regarded as being past."

The prospect for abundant food harvests of all kinds and throughout the country is cheering. In Georgia, weather conditions were rather unfavor*able until a few weeks ago, but timely showers have* heartened the farmers in most counties; and, what is even more important, the progress of scientific methods of cultivation and of the system of diversified crops has made the average farmer far more Independent than in seasons gone by. The year 1913 will be memorable in Georgia agriculture for its wide variety of food crops. We shall produce less cotton, it appears, but we shall produce more foodstuffs—an unmistakable omen of our upward trend.

It is doubtful whether there ever was a watermelon that wasn't luscious.

A Timely Plan For Balkan Peace.

Plans are said to have been made for a conference among the premiers of Bulgaria, Greece, Servia and Montenegro to effect, if possible, a friendly adjustment of the issues that threaten Balkan peace. The need and timeliness of such a council are manifest; for, the disputes between Bulgaria and Greece over Salonica and between Bulgaria and Servia over Monastir have reached a critical stage; and there are other entanglements, such as the question of compensating Montenegro for the surrender of Scutari, to be unknotted.

It is the part of prudence for the Allies to settle their quarrels themselves, if they can. Otherwise *they will invite the intervention of the larger Euro*pean Powers and thereby incur the risk of losing much of the territory they have won from Turkey through their united campaign. The victories of the Balkan States in the late war were due largely to the fact that they stuck together. By a continued coalition, they can exert a telling influence upon Eu*ropean diplomacy and can protect their common in*terests against the ambitions of Austria-Hungary. But should they fall to fighting one another and turn their splendid conquests into a game of grab, a path would be opened for the greed and aggrandizement of their powerful neighbors.

The great nations of Europe would hardly permit another serious conflict in the Balkans. The war with Turkey strained diplomacy to its utmost and there have been times within the past seven months when a general outbreak seemed almost inevitable. The Powers would go the limit of their combined strength to prevent the recurrence of such conditions.

But the logical peacemakers are the Balkan States themselves. Each of them has won more in the campaign against Turkey than it had hoped for and that, perhaps, is partly the cause of the present jealousies and bickerings. Turkey has been driven to Constantinople and confined within a narrow strip of country about the Bosporus. Thus a vast area of territory, including several cities of great commercial or strategic importance, are to be divided among the victors. Little wonder conflicting claims have arisen. The concert of Powers have succeeded in defining boundaries between Balkan and Turkish spheres; it is a far more difficult and delicate task to fix dividing lines among the Balkans themselves.

The plan whereby the premiers of the various States will counsel together over these problems is the safest and surest means of settlement yet proposed. By such methods a great deal should be ac*complished toward maintaining the unity of the Al*lies and also toward averting further disturbance of the larger European relationships.

Nothing is more unsatisfactory than unkissed kisses.

When Town and Country Move Hand-in-Hand.

"There is abroad in South Georgia a spirit of get-together between the city and the country. That is exemplified in the efforts of trade bodies in the county seats and in other cities to help the farmers find markets for their crops. Many farmers hesitate to plant things that are new to them because of a fear that they will be unable to dispose of their products. Trade organizations in many cities are seeking markets for such crops and while helping to build up the country back of their cities, are building up the cities themselves."

This bit of editorial comment from the Savannah Morning News reveals the secret of much of the progress now manifest not only in South Georgia but throughout this and other Southern States—the progress of towns and cities and also the varied development of agricultural interests. The old idea that cities must grow at the expense of one another or at the expense of the farming territory about them is fast being supplanted by the broader and truer view that they can be permanently prosperous only by working together for their common fortunes.

We are at length applying to our own immediate problems the philosophy that commerce and industry depend upon agriculture and that the beginning and end of all our material endeavors rests upon the soil. Thus, as the News points out, the alert boards of trade and chambers of commerce in South Georgia cities are helping the farmer find markets for his crops. They are thereby making possible the development of truck farming on a large and profitable scale. They are opening new fields of enterprise and investment that will benefit merchants, bankers, real estate dealers and business men in general no less than the farmers themselves. The distinctive success and usefulness of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is due very largely to the fact that it is continually promoting enterprises, such as the Geor*gia Corn Show*, which will advance agricultural interests and is continually striving to make itself and its city of service to the entire State.

WHY MEN WORK

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

In proportion as a man is a true man he is a servant. The biggest word in the dictionary is Duty. The divinest of verbs is Ought.

To grow up means to encounter responsibility. The world is full of Peter Pans—that is to say, of men and women who shrink from the burdens of maturity.

But sooner or later to every one of us comes the Burden and the Task. We flee it, we dodge and squirm, but it pursues us, inevitable and stern.

The inner ear of each man's soul hears the voice of Life: "Find your work and do it!" Only by obedience to this command can he find peace. If he disobeys, by and by comes fate, with a persuasive word or with a "grievous crab-tree cudgel," with tragedy and thorns, or with nausea and weariness, and drives him to his place.

The world is governed and kept going by a few strong instincts; but among these not the least is that feeling that cannot be sponged from the human heart, the feeling that "I have a work to do, and how am I straitened until it be accomplished!"

There never was a more superficial, cheap and nasty delusion than that men work only for gain, and that if you take away wages and the hope of becoming wealthy all human kind would lapse into laziness.

The contrary is true. No really good work was ever done for a reward. The best work of the world, and the greater part of the work of the world, is done for the same reason that children play; it is because men would be wretched without activity, because unless men produce, create and play the mighty game of business they die of the worm.

Work is the normal functioning of the adult. Mankind builds bridges, bores tunnels, constructs ocean liners," erects skyscrapers, paints pictures, writes books and grinds flour because there is joy and health.

A man with no job, with no part of life's burden accepted and carried, is no man. He bears the same relation to humanity that flies and snakes bear. He is a curse and an incubus.

And is it not singular that one great desire seems to be to lay up enough money so that our children "will not have to work?"

Let us thank God that riches have wings, for if they should remain fixed their leaden weight would asphyxiate the world.

Captain Barnacle's Log.

BY JOHN H. WISHAR

"There was one time that I was officially burned to death, yet I am here to tell the tale," said Captain Barnacle. "That it was one of the closest calls that ever I had in all my seafaring experience. This happened on the southern end of the island of Sumatra. At that time I was master of the American bark Nellie Williams, bound from Calcutta to San Francisco with dye woods and rare silks. We had made a good run from the Hindoo city down abreast of the island, which was just in sight when the wind went down and we lay there for two days becalmed.

"The morning of the third day a fleet of pirate sloops shot out from a secluded harbor and in a few hours they were alongside. We fought desperately, as all foreigners who fall into the hands of these pirates are either held as slaves or they are killed outright, although it is a far pleasanter fate to die at once than to remain in captivity among these people. Well, despite our valor we were all taken, two of my men being killed and several wounded. We killed about twenty pirates, and for this it was decided that I was to die. They were very nice and polite about it, like all those eastern races. They asked me what kind of a death I would prefer. I could be either stabbed or shot or drowned or burned.

"Well, sir, it's not very pleasant to select the manner of your death, especially when it is to take place that night. But I didn't let them see that my knees were trembling. I thought the matter over for a while, and then told them I would prefer being burned to death. At that they all cheered me as a brave man and a kindly one, for it afforded a better spectacle to the pirates when a man was burned alive. But I was not anxious to die. I watched with some trepidation the building of the funeral pyre. I also saw the pirates bring bales of silk and other goods from my ship and pile it on the shore. The only favor I asked was to be permitted to arrange my own winding sheet. This they granted, so I wrapped myself in a bolt of cloth taken from one of the bundles and told them I was ready.

"I was laid on the top of the funeral pyre and the match was lighted. The flames shot up all around me, leaped high in the sky. I was enveloped in fire. The heat was terrific, but I managed to stand it. How did I do it? Why, I had wrapped myself in half a dozen folds of patent fireproof asbestos cloth, and had also secreted a bottle of water in one of the folds, and this gave me air enough to keep from smothering.

"The pirates watched the great fire an kept piling wood on it for half an hour. Then the flames gradually died down until I was lying on a mountain of glowing coals. Then I suddenly assumed a sitting postude and threw the asbestos covering from off my head, and glared at the crowd. Well, sir, of all the scared pirates that ever existed, it was those Malays. They took one look at the man who had been able to lie in a great blaze for half an hour and suffer no injury, then they turned and fled. I guess they are running yet. I got off that pyre pretty quick, collected my men, and we raided the pirates' camp, taking a vast quantity of rare goods and jewels. We got back aboard the ship, and the rest of the voyage was uneventful. We made enough out of it to more than pay me for the half hour's roasting."

Old Time Friends

Friends of my earlier years, behold, I greet you
Across the void of time that rolls between,
But, candidly, I don't care to meet you,
Be not offended, please—know what I mean.

In those dear days of sentiment and passion
About each form was wrapt a golden haze,
A glamour of romance, in youth's best fashion—
'Tis faded now; O friends of other days!

Something remains that's nobler, finer, higher,
'Tis true; but something has there been of change.
Tried have we all been in vehement fire,
And what is left is fine—but oh, how strange!

I scarcely know myself now by my chatter,
My attitude toward life, likes, tastes—and then
I'm growing rather bald and somewhat fatter
And always go to sleep 'twixt nine and ten!

Friends of my youth, your memories I treasure,
And in my day dreams often with you play—
I shouldn't like to know what your waists measure,
Or see your ragged locks so thin and gray.

My sweetheart, Jane, of rare and radiant beauty,
In dreams I see you still, a vision bright;
To see you really—well, that's not my duty!
Excuse me, sweetheart of my youth! Good night!

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

II—PROTECTION FOR THE BUYERS.
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The practical movement for the protection of buyers from loss as the result of false weights and measures has passed the theoretical stage. Under the vigorous administration of Dr Reichmann, supervisor of weights and measures for the state of New York, the Empire State has led the movement which is rapidly extending even to the remote small towns. This protection will include the exaction of sixteen full ounces in weight for every pound paid for and the assurance that every measure, either dry or liquid contains the number of cubic inches required by the standards. These standards can be obtained through the bureau of standards, so that there need be no variance if the proper precautions are taken to secure uniformity. The adoption and enforcement of most of these measures, however, must rest largely with the general public who will be benefited by them.

In one of the surveys made under the direction of the bureau of standards covering part of the western states, nearly 7,000 scales were tested, of which only about 60 per cent were found correct. Over 8,000 weights were tested of which 82 per cent were correct. Of 3,681 dry measures tested 65 per cent were correct, and 74 per cent of the liquid measures came up to the standard requirements. The greatest inaccuracy was found in spring scales of all kinds, excepting the computing scales. The spring scales made a showing of only 43 per cent correct weight, while the percentage of correct weights recorded by all classes of computing scales was a trifle over 52 per cent. Nearly 2,500 places of business were visited to secure these figures.

During the last ten years at least thirty states have passed some kind of legislation for the protection of the people from short weights and measures. In fourteen of these states the statutes are general in their nature and either authorize or require statewide local inspection under the general supervision of a state department of weights and measures, a statewide inspection service under the officers of the state without any local supervision, or a local inspection without any supervision by the state. In twelve states laws have been passed requiring the weight or measure to be branded upon the outside of original package goods.

Some of these laws have their defects which are likely to be remedied. For instance, in Kansas, a new law specifies that corn meal and flour, when sold in sacks in less amounts than a barrel shall be sold by gross weight in which case the weight of the sack necessarily is counted in. The protection from gross weights seems an unimportant thing to the casual observer, but when it is remembered that dealers are glad to purchase sacks of thick paper because "they weigh well," and that wooden plates and dishes go in with the weight of a pound of lard, the matter will assume a new importance. Under gross weight it is legal to permit the sale of a pound package of butter which in reality contains fifteen ounces of butter and an ounce of paper and string. Where the net weight prevails such a package must be marked fifteen ounces instead of one pound. Dealers frequently evade the law by trying to have this mark faint and indistinct so that the average customer is under the impression that she receives the pound of butter for which she pays. It is estimated by the city sealer of Seattle that the people of that city lose $180,000 annually from short weight upon butter alone.

Now that a national net weight law is going into effect, protection against such losses is to be secured by its proper enforcement, but this refers only to package goods and does not touch upon the articles sold by loose weight in the stores. The only protection from such loss is in the vigilance of the sealers or officers appointed for that purpose who are being increased continually as the different states are becoming aroused to the need of their services. In some states a county sealer or commissioner of weights and measures is now provided. His salary is sometimes at a fixed sum and is sometimes supplemented by the number of scales and measures he examines. In Wisconsin the law provides for two state inspectors who shall do only the work of supervision. City sealers are authorized for all towns having a population of over 35,000. Outside of these towns the territory is covered by men working under the direction of the state inspectors.

The inspectors frequently find remarkable conditions. In scales that appear to weigh correctly it will frequently be found that small bits of lead have been introduced in a manner that almost defies detection. In a large and well equipped shop in a good sized town the inspector found that two sets of scales were in use. The scales upon the counter were accurate and bore his seals. But in a space behind the counter was another set of scales which registered an average of three ounces short upon each pound. In this case the fraud was detected through the vigilance of a housekeepers' club, the members of which had pledged themselves to weigh their food purchases and report to secure public interest in the matter of short weights. The first complaints brought no results, but shortages to the sealer who was vigilant by endeavoring when twenty-five women testified to short weight in articles purchased in that store within a week, a thorough investigation was made, *resulting in the discov*ery of the hidden scales.

The average buyer is cheated more frequently in the purchase of meat than in any other article sold by weight. The cruelty of this fraud to the housekeeper of limited means is apparent when the increased price of this commodity is considered. Even when the scales are correct it is frequently the practice for the unscrupulous dealer to put his hand upon the scale or press it with his finger or in some way to alter the register. In some states penalties for short weights are provided. The need of such punishment is being demonstrated daily and, additional legislation is required for the proper protection of the buyer. A city sealer reported that one butcher shop in New York, which has since been forced out of business, always asked each applicant for a position as meat salesman: "Can you make your wages from the block?" Meaning that he must manage to secure the full amount of his weekly wages by manipulating the scales so that the customers paid it in addition to the price of their meat. In other stores inspectors found by careful investigation that the meat sellers were not only required to make the amount of their wages by giving short weight to their customers but an additional profit to the shop as well.

Protection from such fraud can only be secured by a co-operation between the buying public and the officers enforcing the laws of weights and measures. When a dealer knows that he cannot give short weight without running the risk of having Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Smith or Mrs. Brown report the discrepancy to the sealer, thus bringing about an investigation of his methods, he is bound to be more careful than before the interest of the women was aroused. All *such re*ports are strictly confidential so that the dealers have no means of knowing who gave the information. The confidence which the public generally has bestowed upon its dealers is amazing. The supposition has been that the majority of dealers were honest and would not be guilty of giving short weights or measures. The results of the investigations made, no less than the number of scales and measures which have been confiscated and destroyed by officers employed to deal with this matter, prove this confidence has often been misplaced.

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS.

Alfred Austin was a better poet than common opinion of him has led those unfamiliar with his work to believe. He has been spoofed a good deal, like Henry James, by writers who have never read him. And yet not a single line of his can we recall offhand.

The choice of the new laureate has not been made, of course, but we should like to venture a 3 to 2 that most of the English reviews are already writing leaders deploring the selection, leaving a blank for the name until the announcement is made.

Sweet Rose.

O flower beloved since the world began,
Adapted and praised as a gift to man;
Beautiful vision, with awe we behold
Thy gorgeous petals, thy center of gold.

Unrivaled blossom of all nature's best,
Thy form is cherished in east land and west;
The ideal scent thy heart doth dispose
Renders thee sacred, magnificent rose.

As soon as June comes thou art in thy place,
Bedecked as a queen with loveliest grace;
Sweet floral beauty, we glorify thee;
Nor words nor music may sufficient be.

MARY C. BURKE.

And with the poem comes a cluster of June roses, culled, she says, from Miss Burke's own Bronx garden. Thank you, Miss Burke, and the rarest of Junes to you.

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

May 36.—Up by times and to my office, and thence to the ball park where I did see the giants again prevail over the Philadelphia nine, and again in the afternoon, where I saw the greatest crowd ever I saw at a game. What with sitting in the sun this morning J. O'Neill the scrivener is now as red in the face as any scarlet bandana, albeit he did but sit in the press-box. To dinner with Mistress Dunlap and Mistress Kelly and my wife and B. To the ball park* and thence to Mistress Clare's for dinner, where I did meet my wife and a Mistress Emily Burr, very pleasant, too, and we did talk of many things and Mr. Bingley shewed me a book of poems he had of Maurice Hewlett the tayle-writer's which I read, but did not like, as being without any warmth, albeit the manner of them was without any flaw soever.

June 1.—Up and found it such a June day as the poet Lowell hath wrote of. To breakfast, and at Clare's I find the best coffee I can find away from my own house and had 2 beakers of it. Read how that my Lord Theodore Kan hath been awarded damages in the sum of 3d., which, meseemed, would buy no great amount of Maderia, nor not even grape juice, which is my favourite tipple even as it is of the Secretary Mr. Bryan's, but there is nought cheap about it, as it costs me about 2s. to drink as much as I like of it. Home at noon and all the afternoon at scrivening and then to an Inn with J. Wise the golf-player for dinner, and then he and my wife through the town and I home to labouring again, which I have no great love for but had liefer do than to hear him vaunt of his prowess upon the links, which I care about not a shovelful of ashes.

Why Editors Think They Are Underpaid.

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE.

"I suppose you editors punctuate all the stories I can write, but I never know where to put a new paragraph."

"It must be lots of fun to read all those manuscripts. I'd love to read at home for you, and earn some pin-money."

"It must be fascinating to meet so many authors. What does Robert W. Chembers look like?"

"Do you write any of the stories yourself? I'll bet you do, under another name, and make a lot of extra money."

"It seems so funny to me that in the middle of summer you begin work on the Christmas number! Why do you have to get it up so far ahead?"

It's a bear—no, a boat.

On Southern Highways

(New York Evening Post.)

Georgia's name leads all the rest south of Mason and Dixon's line in the possession of automobiles. In fact, this only mildly expresses her supremacy in this respect, for she boasts nearly twice as many of these vehicles as a y of her neighbors. Moreover she is increasing her supply of them faster than any other southern state, the number in Georgia having gone up in the past twelvemonth from 14,000 to 20,000. The Atlanta Journal endeavors to discover the reason for this distinction. Is it greater prosperity, or more reckless extravagance, or better roads? This last suggestion is significant. An automobile is peculiarly impatient of bad roadways. A highway which a conservative horse and driver will accept as an immutable decree of a mysterious Providence, a man in a motor-car will denounce as a contrivance of Satan, or, more likely, as an indication of the shiftlessness of the community. What the scorn and wrath of delayed outsiders have not availed to accomplish in making southern roads more nearly what they should be ought to follow in the wake of the 11,000 automobiles of Tennessee, the 10,000 of Florida, the 4,000 of Alabama, the 3,500 of Arkansas, the 7,000 of North Carolina, the 6,000 of Virginia and the 7,500 of Kentucky.

The exercises will begin at 8:30 o'clock, with W. M. Slaton, superintendent of schools, presiding. Thirty-five of the graduates finish in the regular four-year classical and scientific course, while the remaining twenty-nine come from the two-year commercial course.

JOHN MALONE WINS AT NORTH AVENUE SCHOOL

John Malone, of 474 North Jackson street, was victorious in the speaking contest held Tuesday morning among the boys of the fifth grade, North Avenue school.

Three boys who previously had won prizes in oratorical competition at the school were the rivals for the honor of best speaker in the room. Each delivered his speech in highly creditable style, but the judges declared that young Malone was the winner. He spoke "The Unknown Speaker."

UNIQUE PROGRAM MARKED NIGHT SCHOOL EXERCISES

Prize Awards, Tableaux and Drills Presented by Girls' Night School Students

One hundred and sixty girls, all of whom work all day and go to school every night, participated in the closing exercises of the Girls' Night school at the Central Congregational church Tuesday night, giving a program which was probably one of the most unique ever shown in Atlanta.

From the opening hymn of "America" to the closing scene in "Hiawatha," the exercises were not only entertaining, but showed an ability and study which reflected great credit on both the girls and their teachers.

Mrs. Laura White, principal of the school, and her staff of teachers, were congratulated upon the work of the past year.

W. M. Slaton, superintendent of schools, was master of ceremonies, giving a short address in which he commended the girls for their perseverance and the members of the faculty of the school for their own success.

Several prizes were awarded. A $5 gold piece, offered by Mrs. Lyman J. Amsden for the girl who should bring into the school the largest number of girls who remained until the close of the year, was won by Miss Pearl Rosenbaum, in division one; medal in spelling, division two, for greatest number of hundreds in weekly written reviews, was tied by Misses Birdie Hutchinson and Mrs. Sophie Weintraub; medal in perfect nightly recitations, was tied by Misses Stella Nolen and Tena Hartman.

Prize for best social letter in division three, was won by Miss May Parks; honorable mention, Miss Ada Coker.

Scholarships in stenography in division four, given by Draughon's Business college and Southern Short and Business university, were won by Misses Eva Hinderson and Edna Symmes.

A feature of the evening was the series of tableaux given by foreign girls, typifying the life of immigrant girls. Eighteen girls, all of foreign birth and several of them newcomers in this country, participated in the scenes, closing them by singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

An industrial drill was given by the whole school, in which a series of manœuvres were performed, each girl being dressed to illustrate her daily work. The verses recited by several of them were written by Miss Eva Motes.

A charade presented by several of the girls was guessed by the audience as representing Woodrow Wilson. Between the scenes, music was rendered by Miss DeFour, Miss Schied, Miss Dorn and Mr. Cleve B. Ford.

The adaptation of "Hiawatha" ended the exercises. It was presented by the Camp Fire Girls, Miss Nell Russell and Miss Ruth Keith reading the verses from the poem.

ATLANTA-MADE EXHIBIT URGED BY J. P. STEVENS

President of First Display Here in 1902 Inspired by Chattanooga Expo

J. P. Stevens, who was president of the association which gave the first exhibition of Atlanta-made products in 1902, at the State fair held in Piedmont park, was one of the party from the Atlanta chamber of commerce which visited Chattanooga to study the permanent exhibit installed there on Broad street by the Manufacturers' association; and he came away impressed with the benefit which that institution has conferred upon Chattanooga.

At the request of the chamber of commerce he has written the following statement in regard to the exhibit:

"As a member of the chamber of commerce committee to inspect the permanent exhibition in Chattanooga, I desire to express the hope that there will be put into effect at once a movement to carry out upon a larger scale the installation of a permanent exhibition of articles manufactured in Atlanta.

"Chattanooga's success in this direction should serve as an inspiration to us. I was amazed at the variety and merit of the products shown there, in no other way could Chattanooga have so effectively placed before the world her claims and her accomplishments as a manufacturing center.

"This is an age of competition between cities as well as individuals, and Atlanta cannot afford to be left behind in this contest. The wonderful growth of California cities is an object lesson to the world in the march of municipal progress, and in each of the principal ones we find permanent exhibitions.

"The census reports show that thirty years ago Los Angeles and Atlanta had about the same population; today Los Angeles' population is more than twice that of Atlanta, and no one who sees her great permanent exhibition can doubt for a moment what a potent factor it has been in accomplishing this result.

"Atlanta should display her resources. Her own citizens would be astonished if the manufacturers would all come forward and show what they are doing. Let us get together and give an exhibition that will put into concrete form a true interpretation of the 'Atlanta Spirit.'"

MURDER TWO YEARS AGO REPORTED TO DETECTIVES

Investigation Begun of Crime Rumored to Have Been Covered Up for Years

A vague and weird rumor of a hitherto unrevealed murder, which is said to have been comitted two years ago on Chapel road, somewhere in the vicinity of the intersection of West Hunter street, was brought to Detective Chief N. A. Lanford Wednesday morning by C. C. Daniels, a contractor and formerly a railroad detective.

According to Daniels, who declines to divulge the names of any of the parties to the alleged crime until after an investigation is begun by the authorities, he overheard a conversation between two women, the substance of which was about as follows:

About two years ago a man and his son (names not given) became enraged with another young man (name not given) because of this young man's alleged conduct with the elder man's daughter and the son's sister.

Father and son, it is said, attacked the unknown young man, one striking him while the other cut him to death. Then, it is alleged in the rumor, they placed the body into a vacant house, which they set on fire with a view to burning the body. Only the dead man's clothing were burned by the fire, it is said. Failing in their purpose to cremate the corpse, the father and son are alleged to have buried it in an old wartime rifle trench nearby.

Mr. Daniels thinks that if a search is made the skeleton will probably be located. He made an engagement with Chief Lanford to meet him in the office of the county police at the court house, between 10 and 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, when he promised to detail to the county officers the conversation he claims to have overheard.

The county police place little credence in the story, but will investigate.

LADIES ESCAPE DEATH AS AUTO RUNS AMUCK

Mrs. Newt A. Morris and Mrs. R. G. Brumby Thrown From Auto on Marietta Road

Returning from a shopping tour in Atlanta, Mrs. Newt A. Morris and Mrs. R. G. Brumby, both of Marietta, narrowly escaped death when hurled from an automobile that toppled over a thirty foot embankment on the Marietta road Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Morris suffered a fractured shoulder and left arm, Mrs. Brumby was badly shaken up, but had no bones broken.

It was Mrs. Morris' car, and she was driving. The two ladies had been to the city shopping, and had come down from Marietta at the same time Tuesday as did Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McNeel. The two cars started to make the return trip together, the Morris car in the rear.

As Mrs. Morris neared the bridge at the Swift Fertilizer works she noticed that the front wheel became unsteady. The bridge was crossed all right, and then the car turned almost around and made for the big embankment which is protected by a railing. It went through the railing and rolled down the sloping embankment, turning completely over as it rolled down.

The two occupants fell clear of the car, which fact probably saved their lives. They were found soon afterward in a soft bed of earth.

The McNeel car had gone about ten minutes before the Morris car was missed. Mr. and Mrs. McNeel turned around then and went back, fearing their friends had had a puncture. They were first to reach the two ladies, and found Mrs. Morris unconscious. Mrs. Brumby was suffering badly from a nervous shock.

Mrs. Morris, who is the wife of ex-Judge Morris, of the Blue Ridge circuit, was taken to the Elkin-Goldsmith sanitarium in the McNeel car.

Mrs. Brumby, who is the wife of Roland G. Brumby, vice president and general manager of the Marietta Chair company, was able to reach her home in Marietta in a trolley car.

It was stated Tuesday night at the sanitarium that Mrs. Morris was resting easily, and while her injuries were painful they were not serious.

Mr. McNeel stated afterward that it was a mystery to him how either of the ladies escaped with their lives, after he had seen the wreck of the automobile at the bottom of the steep embankment.

WILD WEST PARADE IN ATLANTA NEXT MONDAY

Big Pageant Through Streets Will Precede Show at Brisbine Park

The Buffalo Bill and Pawnee bill exhibition is nothing if not original. For this reason it omitted the conventional street parade for a number of years in order to keep as far as possible from the general runs of "shows," and now, after a period of study, it has been determined to present one of the most unique, free for all, spectacular processions the world has ever seen, differing entirely from anything heretofore given. There will be no dingy dens or lumbering loads of old junk, but every division of the great parade will be an educational feature in itself. The wild west section will be preceded by a genuine cowboy band mounted on horseback, and a boy scout fife and drum corps playing lively airs that everybody will appreciate. A whole wagon train of pioneers and prairie schooners will be followed by many tribes of Indian warriors on the trail, with their travois, pack horses and accoutrements. The old stage coach, heavily laden teams, and mounted groups of cowboys, wild west girls, Mexicans and sturdy frontiersmen, will all be seen in typical garb and conditions.

Next following, and in direct antithesis, will be seen an ethnological congress of peculiar people from the far east, with all their strange romantic garb, vehicles, music and a thousand sights from foreign courts and remote Oriental lands, the whole forming a gorgeous cavalcade.

Then comes the military feature of all nations, showing the equipment, style of horsemanship, martial array, artillery, ambulance corps an dmarching order of the world's greatest armies in peace and war, thus forming an almost endless procession of delightful sights and sensations, with entrancing miles of pomp and splendor totally unlike anything heretofore presented. Literally, a teeming world in moving panoramic pictures of animated life, in dazzling pageantry and free display. A veritable cortege of many nations passing in public review on its march to Mecca.

"Buffalo Bill," Colonel William F. Cody, positively will appear in person, deliver an address from his coursing carriage in the arena, and review every performance from his private box.

The street parade will be held in the morning at about 10 o'clock.

Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at Ludden & Bates piano house, the downtown ticket office on day of show.

The new show grounds are located on Cooper street, in Brisbien park.

MARIETTA LADIES HURT IN AUTO WRECK TUESDAY

Mrs. N. A. Morris Sustains Fractures and Mrs. B. G. Brumby Is Bruised

Mrs. Newt A. Morris and Mrs. Boland G. Brumby, both of Marietta, escaped serious injury by a miracle Tuesday afternoon when the automobile in which they were returning to their homes from a day of shopping in Atlanta ran off the road and rolled down a steep bank thirty feet high and was wrecked at the bottom of it. Mrs. Morris, wife of the former judge of the Blue Ridge circuit, sustained a fractured shoulder and arm, but Mrs. Brumby, wife of the vice president and general manager of the Marietta Chair company, was unhurt save for a few bruises and the shock of her experience. The accident occurred at the bridge over the railroad tracks near the Swift Fertilizer Works.

Mrs. Morris was brought back to Atlanta immediately by R. M. McNeel, of Marietta, and received attention in a local sanitarium, where she spent the night. It was reported there that she had received no serious hurt except the two fractures. Because she was rendered unconscious by the accident, and remained unconscious until a late hour Tuesday night, it was feared at first that she had been injured internally.

Mrs. Brumby was taken on to Marietta by Mrs. McNeel aboard a trolley car.

"How both ladies escaped death is a marvel to me," stated Mr. McNeel afterward. He arrived on the scene within ten minutes of the accident, he said. The car in which the ladies were traveling, with Mrs. Morris at the wheel, was very badly wrecked. Mr. and Mrs. McNeel and Mrs. Brumby and Mrs. Morris had come down to Atlanta by automobile Tuesday morning and had spent the day together in the city. They were returning together, with Mr. McNeel and his wife in their car running ahead, when the accident happened. Mr. McNeel, missing them from the road behind him, surmised that a puncture had delayed them, and returned to give help, finding them wrecked.

Witnesses stated that as the car crossed the bridge, they saw its front wheels wobbling. Just as it reached solid ground, the car turned directly through the guard rail of the embankment and rolled head on to the bottom, turning over there. Both ladies were thrown clear of the wreck, landing on soft dirt.

UNVEILING EXERCISES FOR CANDLER MONUMENT

(By Associated Press.)

GAINESVILLE, Ga., June 4.—A monument to the memory of the late Governor Allan D. Candler was unveiled here today at Alta Vista cemetery, the monument being accepted on behalf of the family by Judge John S. Candler, of Atlanta; Hon. Lucien L. Knight, on behalf of the state, and Mayor John Robinson, on behalf of the city of Gainesville. The monument was erected by funds donated by Governor Candler's appointees to office during his term as governor of Georgia. The speech of presentation was made by Judge John W. Lindsey.

BROYLES WILL SPEAK ON CITIZENSHIP WEDNESDAY

City Recorder Nash R. Broyles will be the principal speaker before the members of the Inman Park Presbyterian church Christian Endeavor society, Edgewood and Euclid avenues, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. His topic will be "Citizenship."

VICE SQUAD NETS SIX; RECORDER DOES THE REST

Three young women, one of them but sixteen years old, and three men were found guilty of being habitues of a disorderly house by City Recorder Nash R. Broyles Tuesday afternoon. They were trapped by Chief Beavers' vice squad in a raid on the house at 149 Luckie street Monday night.

Lottie Hammond was bound over to the higher courts on a charge of conducting the resort, and Bessie Brown, Buster White and the three men were fined $15 and costs each. Members of the vice squad testified that they had had the place under surveillance for several days.

Monday night, when the raid was made, the White girl discovered the policemen lurking in the shadows of the back yard. Without notifying her companions, she dashed down the street. The police followed, but she outran them. Later, however, after the five others had been taken into custody, she returned and was arrested.

COTTON MARKET STEADY; PRICES SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Market in New York Closed 3 to 9 Points Up From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 4.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 1 point on Augusta, but generally 1 to 2 points lower under southern and local selling, which appeared to be inspired by continued good weather in the south and heavy crop reports. Offerings were well absorbed by scattered buyers and the market steadied up a point or two during the early trading. Cables were about as due.

After selling about 6 to 10 points net higher the demand from shorts became less active and prices eased off 4 or 5 points from the best but the undertone continued steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 4 to 11 points, on spot sales, favorable weather and crop reports and bearish talk from the stock market. The forecast was also called favorable as to predicted cloudy and unsettled weather in portions of the western belt and showers over a great part of the eastern belt. Moderate short selling was seen in the early trading, with very little support coming from any section. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 10 to 11 points under Monday's close.

The market was dull but steady throughout the morning session. Most bearish comment was heard about crop conditions, but short selling was not heavy at any time. Scalpers on the side were inclined to work at every price decline and this kept the market steady. The demand for long account was restricted, although bulls claimed that dips in prices brought out orders from spinning interests. At the lowest during the morning the market stood 11 points under Monday's final figures.

At the lowest during the morning the market stood 11 points under Monday's final figures. At noon prices were a net decline of 6 to 7 points.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: With New Orleans & Mobiliers, there was very little business done locally in the cotton market. The New York session reflected narrower trades, and the talent was somewhat divided, some declining due to rains in Texas. Dallas, however, advised that a light sprinkle at Paris was the only measure of rain in the state of Texas. Meanwhile, the spot markets of Texas continue to hold the market down, the new crop movement is little more than two months away. The interior holds a good deal of cotton, but holders do not seem in the least bit worried and not at all anxious to liquidate. Light rains continue to fall in the eastern states and unsettled weather was predicted for Arkansas. In Texas the dry weather exists but as yet no serious complaints of high temperatures have been heard. On the contrary, Texas and Oklahoma had many very favorable crop reports. The talent cannot reconcile the generally favorable crop news for the Atlantic states with the private reports received from the south, and no general change began to return after some overnight contemplation.

May very favorable, shows fair south central belt, cloudy elsewhere, cooler northern part. Nice crop Panhandle Texas. Good crop in the western Texas. Light southwest Texas. Moderate showers Arkansas. Light to moderate scattered showers in Alabama and Atlantics. Indications for more or less showery entire belt, cooler Texas.

Dallas wires: "Texas, raining over Panhandle, otherwise generally fair. Oklahoma, generally part cloudy, light rain Oklahoma."

Kessler's Journal says: Carolina, Georgia and Alabama: Local showers tonight or Thursday.

Kentucky—Fair tonight and Thursday.

Tennessee—Fair tonight and Thursday.

Mississippi—Generally fair tonight and Thursday.

Louisiana—Tonight and Thursday increasing cloudiness, not much change in temperature; light to variable winds on the coast.

Arkansas—Local showers, warmer; unsettled.

Oklahoma—Tonight and Thursday generally fair.

East Texas—Tonight and Thursday generally cloudy, light local showers on coast.

West Texas—Tonight generally fair, warmer in the Panhandle. Thursday generally fair.

Spot cotton closed steady.

11 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: January, 11.07; July, 11.40; August, 11.36; October, 11.06.

10 a. m. bids in New Orleans were as follows: January, 11.20; July, 11.00; August, 11.51; October, 11.06.

Habersham King, in his latest report, says: Reviewing weather conditions from preparation to planting and chopping out, I am constrained that this crop is earlier than normal by at least two weeks. Stands perfect, crop clean and in condition to withstand unfavorable weather with little if any damage. Unless the last half of August or first of September is very wet and stunting the movement this fall will be the earliest on record, and from all sections of the belt.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow, Jones & Co. summary:

Harmony established between bankers and R. R. Yonkers reform. Great favorable. London cable says Bulgarian cabinet has resigned. Attorney general proposes graduated inheritance tax on estates. Senate passes bill authorizing farmers to allow independents to compete with Lodge dealers.

Governor Sulzer signs amendment to transfer tax bill affecting Great Northern ore certificates and Adams Express stocks. Twelve industrials declined .59. Twenty active rails declined .59.

While we may have lower prices later on, it would seem as if a good rally was overdue due. Would cover shorts on any further weak-ness today, as bearish rumors circulated yesterday were without foundation. The short interest has been largely increased and any support by leading people would check the present downward swing movement.

Would not encourage buying stocks except for investment. Northern Pacific very attractive for investment.—Clark.

Barnich has been a large buyer of stocks all day long.

Five hundred thousand shares sold to noon—these large transactions usually mark the turning point.—Wyckoff.

Interborough-Metropolitan 5 per cent. bonds believed the market sold out and that a good short interest existed, which should be becomingly alarmed over the southwestern crop prospects, and start to cover. Believe prices go higher. Corn prices yesterday were the highest of the season.

Bulls are talking 65c and most of the local trade are in line with them. The fact now is that unless a good supply is accumulated this month to cover July, there is no telling how high prices are to go higher. The most important point noticeable in the market to the last few days has been the limited selling power, considering it easy for the bulls to advance prices.

Kansas City says: Wheat—The market is in good rain last night and a good rain west of Hutchinson, Kansas this fall and conditions, no rain.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat—The course of prices today depends largely on the attitude of the shorts, some of which covered on yesterday's late rally. There is no pressure on the market except from this class of sell-ers. Corn—There was considerable covering yesterday by shorts and should the country start to sell again the price structure may ease off some. The supply and demand situation continues fairly satisfactory now. Oats—We continue to feel friendly to oats for the coming fall. Provisions—We are inclined to look for a higher market today.

This advance in corn seems a little rapid and it might be helpful to take profits and wait.

John Inglis wires from Salina, Kas.: Western counties on a line with Grove and Treego had failures, within about 25 per cent; Russell, Ellsworth and Salina about 50 per cent.

Showers makes condition winter wheat 85.9 vs. 90.3 May 31 and spring wheat 83 vs. 85.3 last year, oats, 87.3 or a little below normal.

Chicago: Cash corn 1@1½c higher. Oats unchanged. Kansas City says reports from the west show constant and cultivated declines in wheat condition. Commission houses have increased their orders for central and northern Kansas. Armour selling oats, credited to the Logan & Bryan people early on crop damage news have sold out and were followed by local bears. Leading traders going out of the long corn here which they bought around 62c.

HAYWARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 4—Liverpool spots continue large, sales 10,000, during the past two days, but spot quotations show no correspondingly strength and suggests a willingness to liquidate. Southern spot markets generally quiet and easy easiness on our side. Letters from Liverpool all report continued favorable crop reports, especially around six pieces, showing the situation to be favorable. Weather conditions continue very favorable. Fair weather conditions over south and central states, mostly cloudy elsewhere. A little cooler in the northern part of the belt. Light rains in northwest Texas and southwest Texas. A light to moderate scattered shower in Arkansas, Tennessee, the Atlantics and parts of Alabama, Louisiana are far more propitious in the western states, Arkansas, Tennessee and the Carolinas, which conditions have further tended to the resistance shown by New York. The real intention of professionals to make the usual summer operations against bullish conditions is responsible for the present support and steadiness, which, however, is very severe, and to the end but sufficient to serve as the basis of a short scare, is expected by present indications to come along and cause an upturn, and their buying is on this account. Nothing in the general economic outlook as reflected by the continued decline in the stock market is becoming less encouraging and conditions, together with the proposed or supposed radical change coming from a new administration, is telling in its paralleling effect.

RENEWED BEAR PRESSURE CAUSED BREAK IN STOCKS

Canadian Pacific, Beet Sugar, Union Pacific, Reading, Steel and Copper Weak

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 4.—Active selling of stocks was resumed with the opening of the market today. Large blocks of the leading issues were unloaded and prices gave way from 1 to 4 points all directions. Within the first five minutes a score of new low records for the year were established. Canadian Pacific, Beet Sugar, Union Pacific, Reading, Erie, Erie first preferred, Lehigh Valley, Missouri Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island preferred, Great Northern preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio, Steel, Amalgamated, Smelting, Westinghouse, Pacific Mail and Can.

Prices crumbled under the flood of selling orders in a way which testified to the lack of substantial support and encouraged savage attacks by bear cliques. Losses in the active issues ranged up to 4 points in Reading and beyond that in less known stocks.

Completion of the London selling which aggregated 25,000 shares and announcement from Washington that no immediate trust prosecutions were contemplated checked the heavy liquidation of the forenoon. Recoveries reached a point in a few cases, but were lost when Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific and Reading, all were especially weak at 1 p. m.

Further wholesale of liquidation of securities centered today on the Canadian Pacific abroad. The whole list suffered from series of severe bear drives.

Prices were depressed by the enormous shrinkage in values of the week and by the fact that it was in standard investment issues which were being pressed for sale, regardless of rapidity of fluctuations.

Dispatches from Washington regarding further anti-trust proceedings, said to have been instituted by the attorney general's factory. Standard stocks broke with more celerity than the others in the list.

Bonds weak.

Further liquidation of the tobacco shares caused some sensational declines, but the movement was checked. Union Pacific and Southern Reading rallied nearly 2 points above the lowest and other favorites half as much. American Smelting, preferred, lost 2 points and some of its former subsidiaries 5 points.

Foreign exchange was the rule in the final hour. Prices moved irregularly, traders finding no profit on the whole. Sterling and francs alone showed some feverishness, which characterized the early movement.

FINANCIAL BUREAU ON STOCKS.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Stock market in London depressed by the increasing demand for funds. Information changes favor a trading position. Irregular tendencies with a continuance of a waiting movement in some instances may be seen today. At each end of the table there were great baskets filled with the same dainty lavender blossoms, the handles of the baskets tied with bows of lavender tulle, above which were poised yellow butterflies.

The place cards were minuet dancers wearing quaint lavender frocks and the minor details were carried out in the same exquisite colors.

Miss McKenzie received her guests wearing a gown of white embroidered net with a sash of soft blue satin looped in front.

Mrs. Hopkins wore a smart suit of blue linen, the short coat finished with black satin collar and cuffs opening over a blouse of white embroidered crepe, combined with chiffon. Her hat was a black picture shape.

The Importance of Being Earnest As Interpreted by Players Club

The members of the Players' club presenting Oscar Wilde's clever play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," seemed to have taken the title in its literal sense, as an incentive to earnest and serious study in the preparation of the play.

Each member of the cast was letter perfect in his party, and the staging of the three acts a series of beautiful pictures in which handsome furniture and artistic hangings formed an effective setting.

The members of the club taking part and their roles were:

John Worthington, J. P. .....
..... Mr. Marsh Adair
Algernon Moncrief.... Mr. Lamar Hill
Rev. Cannon Chausuble, D. D. .....
..... Mr. Hamilton Douglas, Jr.
Merriman (butler) .. Mr. Tom Donaldson
Lane (manservant)..Mr. Frank Taylor
Lady Bracknell .....
..... Mrs. John Marshall Slaton
Hon. Gwendolyn Fairfax .....
..... Miss Hildreth Burton Smith
Cecily Cardew .... Mrs. William Owens
Miss Prism (governess) .....
..... Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott

The leading masculine roles were played by Mr. Lamar Hill and Mr. Marsh Adair. The English accent and blase manner of the London clubman was splendidly portrayed by Mr. Hill, the ease and naturalness of Mr. Adair winning enthusiastic applause from his friends in the audience.

Mrs. John Marshall Slaton and Mrs. William Owens have appeared on several occasions before with the club, and were greeted warmly last evening.

Mrs. Slaton was a very dignified and correct English matron with a careful eye toward the future of the daughter and nephew in whom she was interested. Mrs. Slaton is unusually gifted, and the role last evening, differing from those she has previously played, showed her versatility as an actress.

It was Miss Hildreth Burton Smith's debut before an Atlanta audience, and she proved herself a real star, playing with an intelligent appreciation of her lines and an ease and grace that usually comes only with experience.

The character parts of Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott and Mr. Hamilton Douglas, Jr., were rendered delightfully and furnished two of the brightest and most amusing roles of the play.

The minor roles were equally well taken, the entire performance running with a smoothness and evenness totally unexpected and unlooked for in an amateur production.

The success of the play is partly due to Mrs. Thaddeus Horton, dramatic director of the club; Mr. Warren Rogers, coach, and the personal interest of Mrs. T. B. Felder, the club president, and Mr. R. L. Cooney.

The club is discussing a repetition of the play at popular prices, and all those who saw the initial performance feel assured of another success if the play should be given again.

The Audience.

The audience was enthusiastic in its appreciation of the work of the well known people on the stage, each one being received with applause on their appearance, the women being presented with beautiful flowers at the close of the different acts.

Among those in the audience were Miss Marjorie Brown, Miss Helen Dargan, Miss Annie Lee McKenzie, Miss Eula Jackson, Miss Edith Bryson, of Savannah; Miss Margaret Hawkins, Miss Constance Knowles, Miss Gladys LeVin, Miss Eleanor Meeks, Miss Jennie D. Harp, Miss Sarah Rawson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Simmons, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Haverty, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunnals, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Saul, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Dr. and Mrs. Dunbar Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Payne, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Paxon, Judge and Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Felder, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cooney, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Grant, Mrs. Clarence Knowles, Mrs. Emily Carter Devine, Mr. Charles Nininger, Mr. Jesse Draper, Mr. Lynn Werner, Mr. Marion Harper, Mr. John A. Brice, Mr. Ed Austin, Mr. Robert J. Lowry and many others.

At the Club.

Supper followed the play at the Piedmont club, the members of the cast and a few others seated at one big table on the terrace, other members of the club and guests seated at smaller tables near.

The large table had an effective decoration in the great bouquets presented the memoers of the cast, a big basket of flowers which was one of Miss Burton Smith's offerings, in the center.

At the central table were Mr. and Mrs. John A. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Scott, Dr. and Mrs. William Owens, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Felder, Mr. and Mrs. Horton, Miss Hildreth Burton Smith, Mrs. Thornton Marye, Mrs. Thaddeus Horton, Miss Hildreth Burton Smith, Miss Bryson, of Savannah; Miss Eula Jackson, Mr. Lamar Hill, Mr. Marsh Adair, Mr. Hamilton Douglas, Jr., Mr. Warren Rogers, Mr. Ralph Ragan and Judge Reid.

Among others at the club were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kneip, Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mikell, Mrs. Divine, Miss Annie Lee McKenzie, Miss Eleanor Meeks, Miss Helen Dargan, Miss Ruth Stallings, Miss Mary Helen Moody, Miss Margaret Hawkins, Mr. Milton Dargan, Jr., Mr. Samuel Silver, Mr. Lewie Martin, Mr. Henry Meeks, of Nashville; Mr. Edward Austin, Mr. Charles Nininger, Mr. Joseph Brown Connally.

Afternoon Reception

Mrs. Warren D. White's reception in compliment to her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Glasgow, of Tyrone, Pa., to Miss Lina Andrews, a bride-elect, and to Mrs. Robert Hall, of Washington, D. C., was a lovely event of this afternoon.

The house was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns. In the reception hall and living room pink sweet peas were massed on the mantels, and in the dining room Killarney roses were used. The mantels were banked with roses and the centerpiece for the table was a basket of Killarney roses. All the details were in pink. The chandeliers were festooned with smilax.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

(From The Beauty Seeker.)

An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It's a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin; in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually is sufficient to complete the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how muddy, sallow or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moth patches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended. Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1-2-pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It acts instantaneously and is wonderfully effective.—(Advt.)

White House Tea

If you are a bit "finniky" about your brand of tea, it is very certain that the "White House" brand will fully measure up to your most ardent expectations. Procurable in several flavors, you can certainly find one that will be just right.—(Advt.)

WHAT ANNE RITTENHOUSE SAYS

Face veils have been a constant appendage of the American woman's hat for many decades, and during the last few years they have been a means of softening the too evident "makeup" that has gone unchallenged by fashion.

The French women have worn veils for several reasons since hats decreased in size and trimming from the fantastic days of Vigee Le Brun. Few women could ever explain why they wore veils; some would tell you it was to keep the powder on their face and the dust off it; others that it was to keep the hat on and the hair smooth; but the great majority would answer that they did not know. They had always done it. And this was true in many cases, for thousands of women who did not put powder on their faces, who wore their hats at any angle at which they happened to fall, without the aid of a mirror, and whose hair was slicked back petted and put down over their faces every time they left the front door.

They never thought of adjusting it before a mirror or of trying any better way of putting it on than the one they had been accustomed to since they first wore a veil. The finest little face covering was considered a necessity as gloves were, but there was no art in their adjustment and not a very large variety in their weaves. A veil was merely a veil, nothing more or less. It was designed as a covering to the face, and it ended there.

It is rather interesting that this condition existed for decades before women took up the veil as an ornament and learned to adjust it in an entirely new way. The manufacturers catered at once to this new impulse and produced seven times seven veils. They came out in all the colors of the kaleidoscope. They were of chiffon, of lace, of figured net, of plain net and fanciful kind. There was the so-called birthmark veil with its hideous figures that threw a shadow on the face that gave the appearance of there being some skin blemish that one wanted to hide. From meaningless figures there came mice and snakes on veils, as they appeared on hosiery—truly a vicious and most unladylike fashion.

When the Veil Dropped Off.

At the height of this madness for queer and quaint veils for all kinds of face covering that drew attention and that really had nothing to do with protecting the hair or the skin, there came a sudden fashion for going without any veil. At first it was thought to be a caprice. Milliners and others who would be said it was impossible that smart women would ever be willing to go with their faces uncovered; in truth, the milliners talked pretty much as though they were dealing with Turkish women who would break rules by going with their faces uncovered.

This was a good tone to take—for those who wanted to sell veils—for the majority of women can be worried into doing much in the way of dress by having a milliner or a dressmaker act as censor. However, the races at Trouville two years ago rather set the fashion for uncovered faces. Maybe it was the heat during the summer, which was unprecedented, or it may have been the novelty of a new idea, but it established a precedent which women could follow or not as they wished.

Here and there in America well dressed women went without veils whenever it was possible. The fashion was not general, but its very existence served to make thick spotted, fantastic veils look rather vulgar. Today, and here is the germ of the discussion, fashionable veils are so thin that they appear like an open mesh tulle. There is no figure on them, there are no spots or balls or stripes or plaid. They are as simple as they were in the old days, but they are made of better material and they are adjusted with grace and skill. No woman who follows the fashions even from afar puts on her veil by tying it around her face, letting the lower edge drop loosely below the chin and the side go upward on a bias line to be caught in a tight little knot at the back of the brim.

Today one has a veil so wide that it can fall to the base of the neck if desired; it is fastened around the neck first, being securely held by a tiny pin or an invisible hairpin at the nape of the neck where the hair begins to grow. If one wears a high collar the folds of the veil are drawn snugly around the top of the neck; but if one wears an open collar the veil is allowed to drop into loose folds down the length of the neck. The top of the veil is brought up to the crown of the hat and the ends at the back are pulled taut until they curve over the brim, where they are securely fastened. Whatever fulness there is is pulled under and invisibly secured; there is no tight knot and no flying ends.

The Chantilly Lace Veil.

The only fashionable way in which a figured veil is worn is as a part of the hat trimming. The new crownless turban through which the hair shows has a lace veil gathered to the edge of the brim and thrown backward over the head. Again they are merely thrown over the whole head like a Spanish mantilla and are caught to the hat with a fancy pin or a single rose; the ends fall well down over the shoulder-blades.

Much of the reason for the discarding of veils is due to the exceeding flatness of the coiffure, which is brilliantined to stay in place and is intended to cling closely to the shape of the head.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

Her Shabby Clothes

Annette flung her chin high and put the lace hat back in the wall case, then reached for rthe white mailne toque. Her face was crimson, but she kept silent, though it necessitated biting her under lip very hard. Madame who owned the millinery parlors where Annette waited upon the customersnever cared who heard the reprimands. And more often than not the censure was cruelly unjust, as now, when she had called Annette an imbecile for not reaching the particular white hat that she wanted.

"How does it look on me, Ward?"

The girl who was buying, a pretty, violet-eyed fashion plate, had the ill breeding to laugh, which did not lessen Annette's flush. But the young fellow who accompanied her looked very severely first at madame, then at Annette. The pity in his gray eyes made Annette more wrathful. For one blazing second she was on the point of throwing up her position. But she could not afford that. Positions were not plentiful at that time of year. She handed madame the maline toque and stood by for further orders.

"Who sewed this bandeau in?" madame demanded, shrilly. "Such work—lopsided, of course, Miss Brent—I might have known."

Again the censure was unjust. Annette had put the bandeau in according to madame's own orders the day before.

"How does it look on me, Ward?" asked the girl, carelessly, tilting her head to get a better view in the tall mirror by which she sat.

"Dandy, Helen," Ward returned. "Couldn't look better."

"You say that, no matter what I have on," she pouted, coquettishly. "But I believe if the bandeau were a trifle lower—"

"As it should have been in the first place," said madame, taking the hat from the pretty, bejewled fingers. "Change it as quickly as possible, Miss Brent. And try to get it right this time."

Annette silently took the hat and went to the work room. As she left the girl observed carelessly: "What a shabby girl, madame! Would she be offended, do you think, if I sent her some of my discarded clothes?"

Annette's cheeks were red and she knew that madame would be furious. When she returned with the altered hat and the girl had reluctantly pronounced it satisfactory and felt the shop madame turned upon her. "Have you no better clothes, Miss Brent? It is most unpleasant to have customers remark concerning my clerks' poverty stricken appearance. You will wear something different tomorrow" Her scornful glance swept Annette's black taffeta waist, which had an undeniable crack down one sleeves, and the black serge skirt, which was shiny at the seams and had a large grease spot on the front side breadth.

Without waiting for answer or excuse madame swept into the small ante-room that was office and reception room. Annette returned to the work room. In a way she felt that her employer's censure was just. No one cares for unsightly saleswomen. And yet Annette wondered if madame would be so hard if she knew how he had to stretch the $9 every week. Rent, groceries, car fare, and clothes for her mother and self, and a little put aside for the operation on her mother's spine, which must be performed very soon ifher life were to be saved.

But madame was not the kind you tell your troubles to. She was a very busy, very nervous womtn, who had worked up from cash girl in one of the city's department stores to owner of the most expensive millinery shop on the fashionable ,treet. And in working up all kindliness seemed to have been dried until her heart was merely a ball of tough leather.

So Annette did not explain that the grease spot was caused by a bit of bacon dropped as she hurriedly got up from the breakfast table that morning when the clock warned that she would be late if she did not run that very minute. She silently went to work and did not look up until 11:30, her lunch hour, arrived. Then she fled to a lavatory and tried to remove it. But it was not amenable to mere soap and water and her efforts merely resulted in a larger more unsightly spot.

Several times that afternoon while she waiter on customers she saw madame's sharp angry eyes rest upon it. Her spirits went down. If she should be discharged now—she trembled until she got her pay envelope that night, and only drew a long breath when madame, after handing it to her, turned impatiently to the next girl.

That night when she reached home she found her mother much worse. The landlady from whom they rented the two small light housekeeping rooms that were their only home had been taken care of her all afternoon, and she had insisted on getting a doctor as soon as possible. "And say," she called after her, as Annette, white lipped, turned instantly back to the street, "there's an awful good doctor around the corner. Young, but he makes a specialty of cases like your ma's. Dr. Gunley—the name's right beside the drug store."

Annette, still white lipped, her eyes big with terror, for if her mother died she had nothing to live for, scarcely knew that the good-looking young surgeon was the same man who had witnessed her humiliation in the morning. She had a vague sense of having seen him before. But it was not until he had worked over her mother and brought her out of the almost fatal unconscious spell that she remembered. Then she thought bitterly that perhaps now he would understand why she was shabby.

When she was preparing to leave she took out her purse to pay him for the call. He waved it back. She flushed. Charity from him was as unbearable as it would have been from his violet-eyed companion of that morning.

"Wait till I'm through with your mother," he explained, smiling to ease her embarrassment. "Then I'll send in the whole bill. Do you know," hesitatingly, evidently afraid to alarm her, "that an operation may be necessary—some time?"

"Yes," she said, too full of grief for any slighter emotion. "But I hope not for several months."

"The sooner the better," he replied briskly, relieved that she knew the worst, and so could not be shocked. "Next week, I would advise."

She looked at him frankly. "I have

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

There's nothing in this world that's sure,
No matter how we scheme and plan.
We simply have to be content
With doing just the best we can.

Jerry Muskrat had curled himself up for the night, so tired that he could hardly keep his eyes open long enough to find a comfortable place to sleep. But he was happy. Yes, indeed, Jerry was happy. He could hear the Laughing Brook beginning to laugh again. It was just a little low, gurgling laugh, but Jerry knew that in a little while it would grow into the full laugh that makes music through the Green Forest and puts happiness into the heart of all wob hear it.

So Jerry was happy, for was it not because of him that the Laughing Brook was beginning to laugh? He had worked all the long day to make a hole through the dam which someone had built across the Laughing Brook and so stopped its laughter, and now the water was running again and soon the new, strange pond behind the dam there in the Green Forest would be gone and the Laughing Brook and the Smiling Pool would be their own beautiful selves once more. It was because he had worked so hard all day that he was going to sleep now. Usually he would rather sleep a part of the day and be abroad at night.

Very pleasant dreams had Jerry Muskrat that night—dreams of the dear Smiling Pool smiling just as it had as long as Jerry could remember before this trouble had come. He was still dreaming when Spotty the Turtle found him and waked him, for it was broad daylight. Jerry yawned and stretched and then he lay still for a minute to listen to the pleasant murmur of the Laughing Brook. But there wasn't any pleasant murmur! There wasn't any sound at all! Jerry began to wonder if he really was awake after all. He looked at Spotty the Turtle and he knew then that he was, for Spotty's face had such a worried look.

"Get up, Jerry Muskrat, and come look at the hole you made yesterday in the dam. You couldn't have done your work very well, for the hole has filled up so that the water does not run any more," said Spotty.

"I did do it well!" snapped Jerry crossly. "I did it just as well as I know how. You lazy folks who just sit and take sun-naps while you pretend to keep watch better get busy, and do a little work yourselves if you don't like the way I work."

"I—I beg your pardon, Jerry Muskrat. I didn't mean to say just that," replied Spotty. "You see we are all worried. We thought last night that by this morning the Laughing Brook would be full of water again and we could go back to the Smiling Pool as soon as we felt like it, and here it is as bad as ever."

"Perhaps the trouble is just that sticks and grass drifted down in the water and filled up the hole I made; that must be the trouble," said Jerry hopefully as he hurried toward the dam.

First he carefully examined it from the Laughing Brook side. Then he dived down under water on the other side. He was gone a long time and Billy Mink was just getting ready to dive to see what had become of him when he came up again.

"What is the trouble?" cried Spotty the Turtle and Grandfather Frog and Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter together. "Is the hole filled up with stuff that has drifted in?

Jerry shook his head as he slowly climbed out of the water. "No," he said. "No, it isn't filled with drift stuff brought down by the water. It is filled with sticks and mud that somebody has put there. Somebody has filled up the hole that I worked so hard to make yesterday, and it will take me all day to open it again."

Then Grandfather Frog and Spotty the Turtle and Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter and Jerry Muskrat stared at one anohter and for a long time no one said a word.

Invited to meet the guests of honor were eight friends of the hostess.

The Conservation of Energy

Shopping to some women, and to some men, too, means work—real hard drudgery.

With knitted and determined look they go about their shopping with no more liking for it than a small boy who goes to have his hair cut.

Do you wonder that the results under these conditions are costly and unsatisfactory, to say nothing of the distressing mental strain occasioned by such unscientific methods?

Shopping drudgery is so needless, so unnecessary. It is your fault and my fault if we go at it blindly, and worry ourselves to distraction when, by the simple method of reading intelligent, helpful advertising in The Journal we may shorten our steps, settle perplexing questions, and, incidentally, if we read carefully, keep many a dollar within our purses that might otherwise go astray.

INTERESTING WEDDINGS

Varnell-Fitch

The wedding of Miss Eula Varnell and Mr. James Briggs Fitch took place at noon today at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Varnell, the ceremony being performed by Dr. A. T. Spalding.

The house was decorated with palms and ferns and white lilies, streamers of ribbon and tulle defining the aisle down which the bridal party walked.

Mrs. John David Askew, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor, and little Laura and John Askew acted as ribbon bearers. Mr. William Phinney was best man.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe meteor trimmed with real lace, and her veil was caught in place by a heart of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom. Her flowers were bride roses and valley lilies.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch left for a bridal trip through Virginia, and on their return will be at home at the Georgian Terrace.

MacIntyre-Scott

A quiet but beautiful event of today was the wedding of Miss Marie MacIntyre and Mr. John Scott, which took place at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. I. MacIntyre, on Peachtree road. Dr. William Hill performed the ceremony.

Because of the recent illness of the bride, the ceremony was very quiet, but the home was prettily decorated for the occasion.

Palms and ferns were gracefully arranged throughout the rooms, and bowls of sweet peas everywhere gave color and fragrance to the decorations.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Julia MacIntyre, and the groom's brother, Mr. Robert Scott, was his best man.

The bride wore a becoming traveling costume of blue crepe meteor, the modish little coat being made of brocade. Her hat was of blue to match, and her flowers were lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Scott left for a trip east, and on their return will occupy their own home in Decatur.

Wilmer-Poindexter

Of interest in Atlanta is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lucy Page Wilmer, of Virginia, and Mr. William Bowyer Poindexter, of Greenlee, Rockbridge county, on Tuesday, June 3, at Briar Hill, Botecourt county, the home of the bride's cousin, Judge G. Wilmer Bowyer.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Cantey Johnson, of Roanoke, the bride being given away by her cousin, Judge Bowyer.

Mrs. Bowyer was matron of honor and Virginia Carey Bowyer and Mary Peyton Bowyer acted as flower girls. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Thomas D. Hunter.

The bride wore a lovely gown of gray charmeuse, and carried white carnations.

After the ceremony, which took place at noon, a wedding breakfast was served.

The bride is a sister of Dr. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's church, and daughter of the late Dr. D. G. F. Wilmer, of Williamsburg and Sewanee, a brother to Bishop Wilmer, of Alabama.

The guests at the wedding included Mr. R. P. Saunders, of Baltimore; Mrs. W. Herbert Asheton, of Rock Spring Farm, Warrenton, Va.; Mr. William A. Anderson, of Lexington, Va., brother of the groom's first wife; Mrs. William A. Anderson, Major George Poindexter, of Alabama, only brother of the groom; Mrs. George Poindexter and her daughter, Miss Martha E. Poindexter; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Singleton, of Feytonsburg, Va.; Mr. E. P. Gilmer, of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hunter, of Roanoke; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Preston and family; Mr. Garland Hopkins and Mrs. Louis P. Holliday and family, of Botecourt, and the following children of the groom by his first marriage: United States Senator and Mrs. Miles Poindexter, of Washington, D. C.; Lieutenant and Mrs. Fielding Lewis Poindexter, United States army, stationed at Roanoke, Va.; Mr. Ernest Poindexter and family, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Poindexter, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. G. F. Poindexter and family, of Greenlee, Va., and Mrs. Mary Macon Poindexter Locher and family, of Glasgow, Va.

Robinson-Steele

The wedding of Mrs. Dale Neer Robinson and Mr. Alvie Steele was an event of Wednesday afternoon, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride on Eighth street, Dr. A. W. Hughlett officiating.

The rooms were decorated with quantities of sweet peas, the lovely flowers being used in profusion in the dining room.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Homer Neer, and wore her going-away gown, a tailored model of Burgundy colored silk, trimmed with Bulgarian colors, and a hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

Miss Lella Neer was the maid of honor, wearing a white crepe gown over pink silk and her flowers were pink roses. Little Miss Charlotte Meador, Sarah Shane, Doris Starnes and Mary Ingram, of Appalachicola, Fla., were the ribbon bearers, and wore white lingerie frocks with wide sashes of pink satin.

The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock.

Betts-Wise

The marriage is announced of Miss Cora Lillian Betts, of McDonough, and Mr. James Walter Wise, of Fayetteville, the ceremony having taken place in New York June 3 at Madison Avenue Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wise will be at home after June 10 in Fayetteville.

These ladies, assisted by the chairmen of standing committees and others, met at the hospital on Tuesday morning, folded and addressed 500 letters, mailing them to Methodists throughout the state.

On last year the shower was very abundant, and this year it is hoped there will be a great increase.

HIGH SCORES ARE MADE IN QUALIFYING ROUND

Memphis Gets Next Southern Golf Meet—Atlanta Team Ranked Third in Team Play, Score for Course Broken

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 4.—When J. Reed Sayre and A. C. Ulmer left first tee of the golf course at the Montgomery Country club at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning play in the championship division of the twelfth annual tournament of the Southern Golf association began.

Every five minutes until 12 o'clock parried players started around the eighteen-hole course in an effort to win the southern championship. L. Jacoby, of Dallas, Tex., who is looked upon as one of the main contenders for the championship, left first tee at 10:45 o'clock, with Tyson, local, his partner. Reuben G. Bush, of New Orleans, who won a medal Tuesday for the lowest score in the qualifying round, got away from tee No. 1 at 9:15 o'clock, his partner being H. Block.

Jacoby and Bush are looked upon as being among the best golf players attending the tournament, and their play carried a large gallery on the course during the morning.

Rain sprinkled the links Tuesday evening, and they were pronounced in perfect condition Wednesday morning. Players say it would have been hard to judge distance and tell where balls were going if the light rain had not fallen.

The qualifying scores for the sixty-four contestants in the championship flights higher than expected were made Tuesday at the tournament of the Southern Golf association here, although the afternoon play of L. Jacoby, of Dallas, Tex., broke the course record, established by a professional Sunday. The sixty-four qualifying for the championship play made the mark of 87, while those entitled to participation in the second division made marks of 91.

The day was a hard one on the golfers, alternating cloudiness, fierce sun, gusty winds, accompanied by rain, and a veritable gale, while dust, as it times whirled across the course from distant roads in blinding clouds. These conditions are given as the cause of the high qualifying scores, higher than the actual condition of the course had promised.

The playing of Jacoby in the afternoon was a veritable revelation to the golfers. The record, established by Hall, professional, of Birmingham, last Sunday, was 70, but Jacoby turned in a card of 68 yesterday afternoon, which caused general rejoicing and enthusiasm. Jacoby is looked upon as the most dangerous competitor for the title, with Nelson Whitney, New Orleans, present title holder. In making his record, Jacoby was playing a foresome with Crawford, of Birmingham, and the Messrs. Munger, of Dallas.

The lowest qualifying score was turned in by R. G. Bush, New Orleans, 73, while Jacoby, Whitney, John Brame, local, and M. J. Condon qualified at 76. Ellis Knowles, at one time considered a dangerous contender for the championship, turned in a card of 82.

In team play for the day, Audubon club, of New Orleans, composed of R. G. Brook, Whitney, J. B. Bush and R. H. Brooke, won first, with a total of 319. Dallas, Tex., composed of Aldredge, Jacoby and Messrs. Munger, came second, and Montgomery and Atlanta tied for third, with a score of 328 each. The Audubon club's play had the advantage of Whitney's work.

At the meeting of the Southern Golf association last night the following officers were elected:

H. F. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., president; G. W. Adair, Atlanta, vice president; J. C. Ryan, Memphis, secretary-treasurer; board of directors, A. H. Mallory, Memphis; D. M. Goodwin, Louisville; W. A. Gunter, Jr., Montgomery; Leigh Carroll, New Orleans; E. B. Thomason, Chattanooga; Robert H. Baugh, Birmingham; W. C. Redding, Macon, Ga.; C. L. Munger, Dallas, and — Grover, Jacksonville, Fla.

Memphis was chosen as the place for the next tournament, the date being fixed for June 2-6, 1914, it being the thirteenth annual gathering.

Brown Chosen Yale Captain

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 4.—George Estabrook Brown, of Philadelphia, a junior in the Sheffield Scientific school at Yale, has been elected captain of the Yale track team for next year. Brown is a half-mile runner, and at Cambridge last Saturday defeated John Paul Jones, the crack Cornell runner, at that distance.

Carrollton Wins Easily

NEWNAN, Ga., June 4.—In the record game of the season Carrollton defeated Newnan on the home grounds by a score of 7-0. With "Stim" Knott on the mound and Millican behind the bat, the Newnan batters were helpless. Only one man reached third, to see the next batter pound the ball to the center. The feature of the game was the shoestring catch and a home run over the left field wall by "Stim" Dimmock.

WEAVER IS WELL LIKED

Analyzing Weaver's effort in the first game as a Pel, however, indicates the east-of Cracker has found his surroundings a trifle more pleasant than in Atlanta. Weaver, stripping the box score of the Spencer and Atz plays, shows he yielded seven baseshits. Taking this into consideration, "Buck" was evidently pitching for his job, and his work surely earned him at least several other trials, for it was his first game in nearly a month.

Some of the fans may not be able to see Weaver as a pitcher, but the fact that he came through for Charley Frank is sufficient. And now that "Buck" is back "home," it is probable he will commence to produce some of the stuff that took all of the batting out of Almeida, the Cuban slugger, who knocked down a few fences in the Southern league last year and helped the Barons to win the pennant.—New Orleans States.

CRACKERS EVENED UP BY DEFEATING VOLS

Jim Brady Was the Hurler to Get Win—Vols Rapped Rather Hard

The Vols showed up yesterday in Nashville, that is they were on the field, but not there when it comes to playing baseball. The Crackers got it all over them, the final score being 8 to 4, in favor of Bill Smith's Cracker boys. King Brady was the real star of the game, he having everything that was necessary with him. He got by with all kinds of stuff and had the Tennessee boys going all the way. He also scored a couple of the runs and after the team had gotten a good lead he slowed up and rested for a sure enough game that he will have to pitch some day.

Alperman and Welchonce were there with the bells on in the hitting department, each of them getting a pair of hits apiece. The whole Cracker team got only six, so the pair were real stars. The Vols got as many hits as the Crackers, but were unable to get them at the right time or were they able to do any real firstclass fielding. The outfield was really on the bum, but the Cracker out gardners played extra classy ball. The Crackers left for Atlanta, where they will play the Billikens on Wednesday.

Atlanta Sure To Land Game

The dispute between the Atlanta and Nashville clubs over the third game scheduled in the series just completed in Voltown will come to an end Wednesday when the Vol team will claim a game by forfeit, due to the failure of the Crackers to appear for a game. The Atlanta team appeared at the Nashville field on Monday and claimed a game by forfeit, and it will be up to President Kavanaugh to give some decision.

It now looks as if Atlanta has all the edge in the controversy. Manager Smith has a letter from President Hirsig, of Nashville, in which the Vol head states it is agreeable to play the games Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Despite this agreement the Vol club did not show up for a game Monday, and the Crackers claimed the fray by forfeit. With the claiming of the game by forfeit President Kavanaugh announced that he would hold the clubs to the original agreement and as the Atlanta bunch has in writing President Hirsig's consent to play on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, it looks as if another march has been stolen on the Vol chief.

The Vol club will appear on the grounds Wednesday afternoon, and claim the game by forfeit. Here is what a dispatch from Nashville has to say regarding the controversy:

The Nashville ball club has been ordered to the park this afternoon and will claim a game by forfeit, the Atlanta team having left Nashville. President Hirsig, of the local club, contends that Atlanta has no grounds of protest over Monday's affair as Manager Smith's agreement to play the series Sunday, Monday and Tuesday does not bear the approval of the Atlanta president.

GOOD RIDERS MATCHED FOR FIRST MOTOR RACE

Everything at Track Is Now Just About Completed, Opens Friday

What was slated to be about the fanciest motorcycle race meet on record—the special newspaper men's meet set for Tuesday afternoon—was all but wrecked by the rain. Dark clouds blew up at 4 o'clock, when the start of the meet was set, and in a few minutes rain was falling. This made the track as slippery as ice and rendered fast riding impossible.

Between showers Tex Richards went on the track and gave some exhibitions of plain and fancy riding by himself and tandem. It was an awful game, for the track was as slippery as glass, but Tex Texas demon escaped unscathed. The tandem races and the exhibition of riding without hands was called off because of the dangerous condition of the track.

Work has progressed so far now that nothing can interfere with Friday's meet. It can rain steadily from now until then and still the opening can be held on time. Only a few odd jobs must be done to complete the greatest board racing plant in Dixie.

The program for the meet has been sent to the printers and the events for the opening night announced. Nine races will be held, divided into three events. There will be the Atlanta sweepstakes, with four heats; the motordrome pure, with four heats and a special match race.

The events and entries follow:

First Event—Atlanta sweepstakes, one mile heats, first man in each heat and second man in fastest heat to qualify for final.

Race 1—First heat, No. 1, Marty Graves, of Los Angeles; No. 2, Harry Swartz, of Denver; No. 3, Willie Shields, of Brooklyn.

Race 2—Second heat, No. 4, George Lochner, of Syracuse; No. 5, "Tex" Richards, of Dallas; No. 6, Freddie Luther, of Fort Worth.

Race No 3—Third heat, No. 7, Georges Renel, of Paris; No. 8, Jack McNeil, of Edinburgh; No. 9, Harry Lewis, of Springfield, Mass.

Race No. 4—Final heat in Atlanta sweepstakes, five miles. First prize, $40; second prize, $30; third prize, $20.

Second event, motordrome purse, two-mile heats, first man in each heat and second man in the fastest heat to qualify.

Race No. 5—First heat, "Tex" Richards, Willie Shields, Georges Renel.

Race No. 6—Second heat, Marty Graves, Henry Lewis, George Lockner.

Race No. 7—Third heat, Jack McNeil, Harry Swartz, Fred Luther.

Race No. 8—Final heat in motordrome purse, three miles. First prize, $35; second prize, $20; third prize, $10.

Race No. 9—Special three-cornered match race, the riders to be announced Thursday night. First prize, $25; second prize, $20; third prize, $15.

The weather is clear and hot.

ERRORS AND HITS THAT WON GAMES

The pitching of Tesreau and Crandall was responsible for New York's victory over St. Louis yesterday by the score of 5 to 3. Fletcher, for New York, got three hits out of four times up. The St. Louis pitchers were hit freely, but all in all the game was a good one.

Pittsburg won yesterday by the score of 7 to 2. Tyler held the Wagnerites down to one run in four innings and then blew up and from then on the game belonged to the Pennsylvania team. Wagner got two hits out of three times up for his share of the afternoon's honors. Miller, the big first baseman for Pittsburg, got three out of four up.

Detroit had the game with Philadelphia cinched Tuesday up till the sixth, when Dauss walked some men, allowed five hits and the team made five errors behind him, and then Detroit went sky high and lost 7 to 3. Cobb got one hit during the game, it being good for three bags.

Washington handed the little end of the deal to St. Louis yesterday, beating them 3 to 2. Both teams scored their runs on errors. Groom for Washington outpitched Hamilton, and fanned twelve men.

The pitching of Ames, the old New York twirler, was the cause of Cincinnati defeating Brooklyn Tuesday by the small score of 1 to 0. He pitched jamup ball, allowing the Brooklyn team only *three scattered hits. Allen, for Cincin*nati, also pitched good ball, giving up only four hits.

Yesterday was flag-raising day for the Boston Red Sox, and after that little ceremony was duly finished they trimmed Chicago 3 to 2 in a very exciting game. The hitting of Speaker, for Boston, and of Lord, for Chicago, were the features of the game, each man getting three hits out of four times up.

Falkenberg again won, this making his tenth straight victory. The Clevelanders defeated the Highlanders by the score of 8 to 2. Keating, for New York, pitched good ball but his support was away off. Graney, for Cleveland, got three out of four times up, one of them being good for three sacks.

TOKIO, June 4.—The Meiji university ball team today defeated the Leland Stanford, Jr., university team, 5 to 1.

GROCERS WILL CONTROL WEDNESDAY'S BALL GAME

DON'T WANT FAKE NEWS

Montgomery Club Canceled Game With Pels to Get Here for Big Fray With Crackers, Game Will Start at 4

Recently many baseball fans in the smaller towns throughout the state have made the bad mistake of incorrectly reporting amateur ball games in their home towns. Unfortunately these accounts are often in reporty signed and appear to be correct reports and are published after which a big howl is raised by the team that has been dealt an injustice.

It is very poor sportsmanship to incorrectly report a baseball score. It gets the team in bad and does no good to anyone. It shows up the town from which the report emits as being unsportsmanlike and causes other clubs to refuse to play them.

In many of the small towns recently squabbles have arisen regarding the outcome of games and always there have been two reports, one claiming a victory for one club and another stating the other team won. There is but one score to every ball game and the umpire's decision is authority. The reports should always be based on the way the umpire decided the game and so written. The Journal is always more than glad to print the report of every game played in any section but at the same time only accurate reports are wanted.

COBB'S WORK

Ty Cobb didn't do much Tuesday, and consequently his average took a drop. The percentage column shows a seven point decrease on account of him getting only one hit out of three times up. This is batting .333, but if Georgia Peach is to establish a new world's record he has got to get himself together right away. Several other big guns are close on his heels, and the chances are that he will take notice in the next few days and release that old batting stride in the first part of the season was a side release, and was in reality but a lead for what is coming later on. If such is the case he will be going mighty good in midseason. His figures are:

Emory Students to Play Madison Team

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

OXFORD, Ga., June 4.—A number of Emory students will journey to Madison, Ga., for Thursday and Friday afternoon, where they will play a series of three games. The Emory team will be composed mainly of Emory ball players and they will go up against middle Georgia's champs of last season.

The actual college work was concluded this morning, and the student body dismissed, which will not make the players accountable to the authorities.

Dr. F. N. Duncan, prominent in Emory's athletics for a number of years, will manage the local team.

The prospective line-up will consist of: Porter and Lester, pitchers; Stone, catcher; Duncan, first base; Neal, captain, second base; Thomas, third base; Stevens, shortstop; Bondurant, Bowles, Summers and Rogers, outfielders.

Australian Star Not Able to Play

NEW YORK, June 4.—It appeared evident today that the Australian tennis team that will play in the Davis cup matches, likely should be reduced to S. N. Doust and Horace Rice. A. B. Jones, the third member, still is ill and was unable again today to get out for practice. Doust said Jones might not play. After some practice singles, Doust and Rice paired against G. P. Touchard and W. M. Washburn, the young Harvard player, and easily had the better of the Americans.

It was announced that final nominations for places in the matches will be made Thursday. The first of the singles contests will begin at 2 o'clock next Friday, and the doubles will be played Saturday. The two remaining singles matches next Monday will complete the series in this country.

One of the banner baseball games of the season is promised for Wednesday afternoon, the Atlanta and Montgomery clubs piling for the Grocers' association. The Montgomery club agreed to the transfer of the game to Ponce de Leon, and hostilities will begin at 4 o'clock with a big parade earlier in the afternoon.

During the next three months the retail grocers of the city will close on each Wednesday for a half holiday, and as today is the first midweek close all were anxious that a ball game be arranged. To accommodate the grocers the Montgomery club cancelled a game that was scheduled with New Orleans and made the jump here, while the Atlanta team made the move up possible by playing a Sunday game in Voltown.

The plans for the big game were handled by Francis Kamper, for the grocers, and he has left no stone unturned to make it a big event. He appreciates the trouble and work both the baseball association and grocers have gone to in getting the game and urges all to turn out and root for Atlanta. A parade will pass through the city between 2:30 and 3:30 and enthusiasm in this way aroused.

The Cracker club has just returned from Nashville and is in good shape, Bill Smith and Chapman will make up the Cracker battery, with Elmer Brown and Pat Donahue doing the battery work for the visiting delegation. The remainder of the line-up will be as usual.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 4.—Application to be appointed administrator of the estate of Luther McCarty, heavyweight fighter, killed in a bout with Arthur Pelkey, was filed in the probate court here today by Otto Lippman, representing the widow. Lippman managed bouts here in which McCarty first attracted attention.

The estate consists of $8,106 on deposit in a Los Angeles bank, four lots on a beach near Boston, and other possessions, totalling $13,000. McCarty left no will. His widow and two-year-old daughter are his only heirs.

Princeton to Have Big Meet

PRINCETON, N. J., June 4.—Plans have been completed here for the annual all-around championship athletic meet, which is to be held under the auspices of the Princeton Track association on University field Thursday afternoon. According to Manager McMillan, the meet is open to all comers, and, as it is said to have been sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic union, any records made will be official.

F. C. Thompson, of the Princeton Theological seminary, who won the all-around championship a couple of years ago, and who lowered Martin Sheridan's record in an unofficial meet here last spring, will attempt to repeat the performance Thursday.

Manager Quits Team

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 4.—Frank Doyle, for the past three years manager of the Greensboro baseball team in the Carolina league, resigned last night, and was succeeded as manager by Charles Deak, for several years manager and coach of the Guilford college, N. C., team.

CRAGANOUR WINS, BUT IS RULED OUT.

EPSOM, England, June 4.—C. Bower Ismay's Craganour, the favorite, won the Derby today.

A. P. Cunliffe's Aboyeur was second, and W. Raphael's Louvois was third. Fifteen ran.

An objection was lodged against Craganour, the winner of the derby.

The objection against Craganour was for bumping in the straight.

The starting prices were:

Craganour 6 to 4 against; Aboyeur, 100 to 1 against; Louvois, 10 to 1 against.

*The objection against Craga*nour was sustained by the stewards.

SURE, KNOBS WAS NEAR A PIECE OF CHEESE ---BY FARREN

WHAT'S UP, KNOBS?
OH A GUY JUST ASKED ME WHAT WAS THE NEAREST THING TO A PIECE OF CHEESE — AND I'M TRYIN' TO GUESS WHAT IT IS THAT'S EASY, KNOBS. NOW YOU WON'T GET SORE IF I TELL YOU, WILL YE?
NO, SURE NOT!
WHY, SAY, YOU'RE THE NEAREST THING TO A PIECE OF CHEESE I KNOW OF. HA! HA! HA! OH-O-O

FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

The N. L. situation, as we understand it, is about this: The Phillies will win the pennant if they are able to maintain their lead to the finish, if they don't they won't.

As we understand it still further, the Colonel is the Guy who put the pink in the pink of condition. . He has always batted around .440, but never around all night.

And eight years ago the Cleveland Naps were 113 points to the good late in June. They finished fifth. Yes, several things can happen in July, August and September.

As for example the year thereafter the White Sox were in seventh place in July. They won the world's championship that October. Now bring on your dope for 1913 and push us adjacent to the situation.

In the next Yank-Red Sox clash Chance has seven battles booked for three days of play. It is understood that one of these will be staged at 3 a. m. for the benefit of the milkmen.

Some one has tipped it off that Frank Navin settled with Cobb on the basis of so much per base hit in place of the stuplated salary. If the settlement called for more than seven cents a hit Navin is likely to be a bankrupt before July 4.

WORTH THE REST OF IT.

This Spring has been a bum one, I admit;
A raw and cold and clammy sort of thing;
Yet in a way it's made one timely hit
To even up for all its wintry sting.

For with all ball clubs backward in the lull,
Off-color where the winds and waters storm;
No one as yet has had the nerve to pull
"Mid-season Form."

"The Pirates," says an exchange, "may be pennant contenders if they ever get started." Which, as far as we can make it out, means that if the Pirates ever get started they may be pennant contenders. Only that,, and nothing more.

The White Sox are making a brave fight minus the usual activities of Ed Walsh—but its hard to win any battle with your right arm in a sling. Walsh is only the Sox' right arm, beyond which he is useless.

Sir—What, in your opinion, was the game's greatest infield—LaCrosse, Ferris, Parent and Collins, of Boston, or Chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt of the Cubs?—A. G. N.

What seems to be the trouble with McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker? Are they necessarily second to either of those mentioned?

SPEAKING OF THE PHILLIES—

In reply to several queries upon the subject we are in a position to state that the Phillies undoubtedly have first string power enough to win a pennant; they have the pitching, the batting and the rest of it. But first string power isn't the entire program. Whether they have the reserve power to stay up there through another four months has yet to be shown. They have three slabmen going well in Seaton, Alexander and Rixey. But Seaton and Alexander have been worked to a finish and some one else must come through.

Dooin has the best club now he has ever handled—a club in wonderful condition and at the top of its speed. But the rasping section of the race hasn't started yet—the main test that arrives with a mixture of unkempt luck and blazing heat. This is where the bulk of the story is nearly always told.

Not forgetting to remark that the Phillies are much better fortified against fate than they ever were before with Coxy Dolan, Doc Miller and one or two others waiting for the call.

"What is so rare as a day in June?" queries the late Mr. Lowell. The Fourth of July with the home club on the long of both sections of a double header. To say nothing of any double header day in July, August or September.

Tennis Finals

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

OXFORD, Ga., June 4.—The finals in doubles in the annual Emory tennis tournament were won by R. R. Van Landingham, of Cairo, Ga., and Miles Dillard, of Oxford. They won in the last round from Murray and Crowder, who had worked their way up to the battle with the winners.

The finals in singles will be played Monday afternoon between Van Landingham and Murray. This contest will prove interesting as both are fast with the racquet.

LaGrange Rained Out

LAGRANGE, Ga., June 4.—Rain prevented Newnan-LaGrange game here Tuesday. A double-header will be played Wednesday, first game called at 2:30.

Dawson Wins

DAWSON, Ga., June 4.—Dawson defeated Parrott Tuesday in a rather poorly played game, 8 to 0. Wet grounds were partly responsible for the slow playing on both sides. The game was called in the last half of the sixth on account of rain. Kenyon, for Dawson, struck out four and gave up five hits. Pinkston gave up two hits and struck out seven in four innings. Hautman relieved Pinkston in the fifth and was rather wild. The score by innings was:

Parrott	000 00—0 5
Dawson	121 02—8 3

Batteries: Pinkston, Hautman and Pinkston; Kenyon and Witchard.

Tennis Meet For Auburn

AUBURN, Ala., June 4.—Several months a go an interfraternity organization, know nas the Pan-Hellenic Tennis association, was formed at Auburn. The plan was for each fraternity to play each of the other nlen a match of three sets, and for the two leading teams to play a match of five sets for a loving cup and rackets for the winners. This event was staged for commencement.

The final average showed the S. A. E was undefeated and the A. T. O. received second place. The K. A., Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta were all close to second place.

Friday and Saturday the championship match was played. Moulton and Neal represented the S. A. E. and Clements and Noble the A. T. O. The former won three sets out of five.

Immediately after the match the winners were presented a beautiful loving cup for their fraternity and good racquets for themselves. The loving cup is a large one and bears the inscription, "Pan-Hellenic Tennis Association—Auburn—1913." Crossed racquets are raised just below the inscription. The names of the fraternity and the team will be engraved upon it.

These games have been very interesting, and the first tournament was a great success. The next one will take place next fall.

Lois Is a Winner

MABLETON, Ga., June 4.—The Lois baseball club defeated the home team here Saturday by the score of 8 to 3. Daniel was knocked out in the fifth, the Lois boys getting two home runs in this inning. The Lois boys have the best team that has been seen here in some time, the feature of the game being the playing of the entire Lois team. They batted Daniel for 14 hits; Stringfellow and Cantrell got a home run. Bragg pitched a beautiful game for Lois. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Lois	111 030 200	8	14	3
Mableton	000 102 000	3	3	2

Batteries: Bragg and Stringfellow; Daniel brothers and Gann.

Williams Luck Factor In Tennis Matches

R. Norris Williams, the young Harvard crack who is to play on the United States tehnis team for the international tennis championship, has recovered from an illness which for a time threatened to keep him off the team. He is showing a form in practice which indicates that he will be a strong factor in the coming match between the United States and Australia, to be played in New York City beginning June 6.

Because good fortune has formed a habit of following in his footsteps, even conservative critics are tending toward ranking Williams' chances for success a little above par. The young Harvard player is far and away the youngest member of the American tennis combination, but he has been such a regular favorite of fortune that tennis enthusiasts think he can rest assured of all the favorable breaks in the luck in the coming tourneys.

Flynn Coming For Big Bout

On Friday night, the 13th of this month, there will be something doing at the auditorium-armory. It will be a fight, and not an exhibition of scientific boxing. Of course, the boxing will be mixed up with the other, but there will be some of the old-time knock down and drag out stuff put on. The main bout will be between two heavies of national fame and reputation.

Jim Flynn and Jim Savage will be the contenders in the main bout, and when the bell rings for "Go to it" there will be fur flying from all quarters. Neither one of these men has any too much love for the other, and that the milling will be good is putting it light. It will be a fight on the style of the Nelson-Whitney scrap taken in the last few minutes of time. Those who were fortunate enough to see that fight will remember how those two lights mixed it in the last few minutes of time. Well, that is the way the Savage-Flynn mill will go. Several good preliminaries have been arranged, and this will be about the best fight that has ever been staged in this city. The fight will be put on at 8:15 o'clock, and there will be something doing every minute of the time, so remember and be there.

FALKY'S FADE AWAY IS VERY BEST, SAYS BAKER

Crack Batsman of Athletics Believes It Is Better Than Matty's

"Fred Falkenberg has a better fadeaway ball than Christy Mathewson. Left-handed batters can hit Mathewson but find it almost impossible to get a single off Falkenberg."

Such is the declaration made by Frank Baker, home-run hitter extraordinary and hero of the world's series of 1911. Baker made baseball history when he hit Mathewson for four bases in one of the games between the Athletics and Giants for the world's championship. He batted against Mathewson in three games of that memorable series. He has made the work of opposing pitchers a study. For that reason, his comparison of the two famous exponents of the fadeaway are of great value.

"McInnis and I were talking about Falkenberg in our room the other night," Baker continued. "Stuffy said he believed a right-hander could hit Falkenberg easier than a left-hander and I believe he is right. To tell the truth, I would like to see how many hits a team composed entirely of left-handed batters would make off Fred. I'll bet he would come mighty close to pitching a no-hit game."

Ira Thomas, member of Connie Mack's famous strategy board, is another admirer of Falkenberg.

"I have not batted against Fred this year," says Thomas, "but from observations, I would say he has the best fadeaway delivery ever pitched. Matty's fadeaway comes up to the batter rather slow. He works it as a change of pace. Falkenberg throws his fast ball and fadeaway with the same motion. The batter does not know which it is until he swings and misses. The fadeaway comes up much faster than Matty's fadeaway, and for that reason is harder to hit. Fred is also the owner of more speed than Matty now has. I would rate Fred as one of the five best pitchers in the country."

Baker's intimation that left-handed batters in particular find Falkenberg a puzzle is correct. Falkenberg has plached and won seven games. In one of those games he was not right, the contest in Chicago when the mercury registered about 36 and Fred could not get warmed up until he had plached to at least one batter in each inning. As a result, the lead-off man in each round, generally a left-handed batter was greeting Fred with a hit.

Major Mallow had taken a mark of 2:06 on a half-mile track. He was fifteen years old.

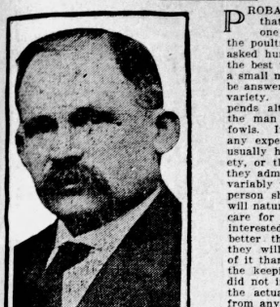
POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Selecting a Variety of Fowls



PROBABLY this is one question that arises more than any one subject connected with the poultry business. I have been asked hundreds of times which is the best variety of fowls and it is a small matter for this question to be answered. There is no one best variety. This is a matter that depends altogether on the likes of the man who expects to buy the fowls. If a person has ever had any experience with poultry they usually have some preferable variety, or there is some variety that they admire more than others. Invariably this is the variety that a person should select because they will naturally admire, will like and care for better anything they are interested in or have an idea is better than something else, and they will make a greater success of it than if they were to take up the keeping of some variety that did not interest them. And, as to the actual results to be obtained from any one variety, this depends more largely on the way this strain has been bred, how they have been raised and the attention that has been given them for either egg production or color, according to the standard. The variety that will pay the most money of any is the one that will produce the largest number of eggs in twelve months, regardless of what kind they are or what color they are. The hen that lays is the one that pays.

Naturally there are other things that enter into the subject. For instance, if your hens are bred for egg production, they will be profitable as egg producers even up to the third and fourth year, naturally they would pay better than to have hens that did not have sufficient constitution or breeding behind them to yield a large number of eggs more than one or two seasons, but this depends more largely on the breeding. A hen is matured and matured in her younger days than it does the breed. A hen's actual worth, aside from what she can do in the show room or as a producer of show specimens, can only be considered by the number of eggs she can lay in twelve months. As there is very little difference in the cost of maintenance of any hen this feature is not to be considered so much as the one of great egg production. It can be readily seen when a hen is capable of producing two hundred eggs per year and can average this three years in succession, she is a wonderful money maker, and no investment can be placed in anything that will pay such a large per cent of profit as a hen that can lay two hundred eggs per year. The ability for a hen to lay two hundred eggs per year depends altogether on the breeding behind her, the way she has been raised and the care and attention she has had given her. As much depends on him as does the hen, the same as it is with a cow or with a horse to produce results. The handler has a lot to do with the profits to be derived.

In selecting a variety of fowls to keep the first of all things get one that you admire. Next to this if eggs alone are the main object select a variety that you know is capable of producing eggs, has a reputation for this purpose, and then select a breeder to buy these chickens from that you have confidence in and one that you know has left no stone unturned to mature his young breeding stock with a capable idea of producing a large number of eggs. Then if you do your duty by them you will not be disappointed and they will make you a big per cent of profit.

On the other hand, if meat is the object in view you should select a variety that is not only a good egg producer and will produce a fine carcass of meat, but a variety that will grow quickly and mature as early as possible, a large frame capable of carrying considerable weight and one that will convert food into flesh at a profit in the shortest length of time.

These are the main things in selecting in the minds of anyone, a variety that is the most profitable and the one that will pay the best. This will settle that question in the minds of anyone, and as there are many varieties with years of study and care bestowed upon to get these main features perfected it is naturally, they are the ones that should select and you can not make a mistake in doing so. Nearly all of the standard varieties are good and have their redeeming features, and it is simply a matter of choice with you as to what variety you select.

Yours very truly,

GUY & FERRY.

FOR SALE AT AUCTION

SIX UP-TO-DATE HOMES
And 19 Ready-to-Build-on Lots
SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1913
At 3 p. m., on the Premises

THESE are 5 and 6-room houses, with every city convenience and connection, including furnace in each of the houses, but no gas as yet. These houses were built of the best material, under the personal direction of Colonel I. N. Ragsdale, who could not be induced to build a shoddy house.

These houses are real city homes, located in the social center of the Tenth Ward, and only a step from the best car service in Atlanta.

We urge you to go out and inspect this property. Each house will be plainly placarded, showing cash payment and monthly payments; also the amount of the loan to be assumed.

THESE HOUSES ARE NOW RENTED, and bring in from $18.50 to $30.00 per month. Think of what a help that will be to you, in meeting your payments, should you not be ready to occupy the house.

The houses and lots front on the following streets:

Arlington Avenue, Princess Avenue, and LaRosa Terrace.

Arlington avenue runs off of Lee Street, right at Colonel Ragsdale's handsome home. Princess avenue runs off of Avon (Oakland) avenue, between the Baptist church and Captain E. P. Ryan's fine home, giving the property two approaches, each of which is a prominent street.

THIS SECTION HAS NO OBJECTIONABLE FEATURE

It is logically the place for the people to live who are engaged in business, or who are employed among the many industrial and manufacturing and railroad enterprises around the Terminal Station, Whitehall street, Mitchell street, and Central and West Point railroads, and the adjacent territory. The car service and the way the streets run prove these statements to be true. Think about it, and you'll see it as we do.

THE LOTS ARE READY TO BUILD ON

These are the lots to buy, either for home sites or for speculation, because they are ready to build on. In addition to this, every lot is a beauty, with nice young oak shade trees scattered over them. Also, because their location is excellent. They are only a short distance from the business center of Oakland City. Only two blocks from the City Schools, and near the churches; and the farthest lot is only two blocks from the car line; and, best of all, they are socially in the swim, and

ALL CITY IMPROVEMENTS DOWN AND PAID FOR.

THE TERMS ON THE HOUSES

Will range from $150 to $250 cash, and the payments will range from $22.50 per month to $32.50 per month, with 6 per cent simple interest. Small loan on five of the houses, to be assumed by the purchaser.

THE TERMS ON THE LOTS

are right. Every lot will be sold on terms of $50 cash, and the balance $15 per month, with only 6 per cent simple interest on the deferred payments.

HOW TO GET THERE—Take cars at the corner of Forsyth and Alabama streets, marked "East Point," "Hapeville" or "College Park." Get off at the corner Avon (Oakland) avenue. You will then be only a step from this property.

COME AND BE SURE TO BUY—You will never regret it if you do, and you will be sorry if you don't. Get plans from

The lot is on the west side of the avenue, beginning 115 feet north of Fourteenth street. It has a frontage of seventy feet and a depth of 251 feet. It was sold at the rate of nearly $150 a front foot.

VOLUME OF TRANSFERS.

The volume of recorded business continues good, although the considerations are not large.

An average of about a dozen bonds for title go to record daily, sometimes more, sometimes less than the figures.

Agents who have never gone in for large business, but have stuck to homes, vacant lots and small investment properties, say that they are pretty well satisfied with the average of their business and expect to have better than the usual summer business.

WINNIPEG PROGRAM.

Real estate men who contemplate attending the sixth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges at Winnipeg the latter part of July, have about come to the conclusion that the Canadians up in Manitoba never sleep. During the past week information was received by the local realty dealers that arrangements have been made for a series of "convention breakfasts," to be held at 7 a. m. each morning, and that the day's festivities will wind up with a baseball game at 9 or 10 p. m.

Attractive plans are being formulated for entertaining the ladies. Auto rides around the city are planned for Monday afternoon, July 28, and the "get-together-get-acquainted" entertainment for that evening includes both men and women. On the second day of the convention, the ladies are to be taken in automobiles to upper Fort Garry for luncheon.

There will be a garden party at government house (the official residence of Lieutenant Governor D. C. Cameron. The governor and Mrs. Cameron will receive informally for all delegates and their ladies. The seventy-ninth Highlander regiment and their celebrated Kilty band will parade in full regimentals and amon gthe ceremonies will be the unique "trooping the colors."

On Wednesday evening, there will be a mammoth banquet in the queen's room at the Royal Alexandra, the splendid C. P. R. hotel in Winnipeg. This affair will bring the convention officially to a close. On the following morning at 8 a. m. the delegates will leave for the eleven hundred mile trip through the Canadian wheat belt, provided free through the courtesy of boards located along the route to be visited.

M'REYNOLDS TO CURE TOBACCO TRUST EVILS

Attorney General Has Plan to Hit Trusts Let Out by Court Dissolution

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Attorney General McReynolds today declared that he always had regarded the final decree intended to dissolve the tobacco trust as an "obvious subterfuge and a miscarriage of justice," and if there were any proper and just way by which he could cure the evil, he would do it.

As an immediate step he is considering proposing to congress a graduated excise tax on tobacco manufacturers.

The attorney general said that while he had not finally decided upon an investigation of the tobacco situation with a view to possible further anti-trust prosecution, he likewise had not reached a conclusion as to whether the decree of dissolution, which he regards as inadequate, can be reopened.

The attorney general indicated that he was firmly convinced that the decree was incommensurate with the demands of the occasion. He declared today that there could be no real dissolution of a trust by distributing its stock among the same shareholders.

Regarding the Standard Oil situation the attorney general said he was giving serious consideration to the results of the government's completed investigation of the workings of the dissolution decree but had not yet decided whether action would be taken.

Attorney General McReynolds has a plan to cure some of the alleged evils of the "tobacco trust" which he believes the supreme court dissolution edict did not reach.

It is to tax the output of tobacco factories on a sliding scale in such way that the big manufacturers will pay more and more as their output increases. It is said the attorney general has talked his plan over with President Wilson and the cabinet, and will shortly submit it to Chairman Simmons, of the senate finance committee.

While such a plan of taxation could not be called a tariff for revenue only measure, Mr. McReynolds contends that it is an emergency measure devised to meet the pleas of independent tobacco manufacturers that the dissolution of the trust has not relieved them of a situation which, they say, threatens to place them in as much danger as they were from the "trust" before it was dissolved.

Mr. McReynolds has never agreed with the dissolution of the so-called monopoly and is said to feel that many of the evils charged against it still are continuing under other forms.

In addition to correcting alleged equalities by such a method of internal revenue taxation, the attorney general is still considering the advisability of beginning an investigaton to determine whether the decree dissolving the "tobacco trust" is being violated.

It is pointed out that the United States court in entering the decree of dissolution declined to grant former Attorney General Wickersham's request that the government be permitted to reopen the decree at any time within the next five years in case it decides the plan of dissolution had not accomplished the purposes of the Sherman law.

Mr. McReynolds today resumed consideration of the Standard Oil situation, conferring with Charles B. Morrison and Oliver E. Pagan, his special assistants, who have devoted months to an investigation of oil conditions. With their report before him, it will now devolve upon the attorney general to decide whether there is prima facie evidence of violation of the decree of dissolution to justify the government in attacking the oil interests by contempt of court or criminal proceedings.

STOCKS SLUMP WITH NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

Excitement on Stock Exchange in New York Greater Than Since Panic of 1907

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 4.—Excitement on the stock exchange during the first hour of today's market was probably without parallel since the panic of 1907. Stocks were literally poured out regardless of quoted prices with declines greatest in the standard shares.

One of the many factors making liquidation was the overnight news from Washington indicating a radical attitude on the part of the administration in connection with the American Tobacco company and the Standard Oil company. Another influence was the decidedly lower level of prices quoted by London.

The steady decline of the past few weeks has caused a general calling of loans by financial institutions. This as yet has made only slight impression upon the money market, but a stiffening of rates for both call and time accommodations is expected before the end of the month.

Within the first hour fifty new low records for the year were made, with losses ranging from 2 to 4 points among the standard issues. The average of prices was at the lowest point since the 1907 panic.

The selling movement gathered greater momentum before noon, and the lower prices were registered practically throughout the list. The aggregate of sales during the morning session was well in excess of 500,000 shares.

LONG'S LIFE THREATENED, HIS WITNESSES DECLARE

Defense Trying to Show Pickens Gunter Was Avowed Enemy to Long

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

AIKEN, S. C., June 4.—With the prosecution resting, the defense in the case of Legislator Hugh Long, who is being tried on the charge of having murdered Pickens Gunter, is, by the testimony of numerous witnesses, making an effort to show that the deceased was a bitter political enemy of Long, and that during Long's candidacy last summer for the house of representatives put forth a great deal of effort to injure his prospects for election.

The defense placed on the stand witnesses who testified that several times prior to his death Pickens Gunter had expressed a desire and a determination "to give Long a —— good flogging;" that Long "was not fit to live in Wagener" and "they" wanted to get rid of him.

Three witnesses for the defense testified that Pickens Gunter and Dr. L. B. Etheridge went to a campaign meeting at Warrenville, this county, last summer with the avowed intention of "breaking up the meeting" and "howling Long down." While Long was speaking, the testimony continues, he made a statement, in reply to which Gunter, it is alleged by the witnesses, said, "That's a d—— lie."

"Give me your name," Long, who had not seen him, cried, the story went, and there was answer, "Mr. P. N. Gunter, of Wagener, S. C., and if you will come out here on the grounds, off comes your —— head, and you won't go back to Wagner and repeat your statement, either."

Two witnesses, one of whom was a candidate last year for the state senate, swore that the deceased had, in their presence, made threats of dire violence to Long's person and had even requested them to take to Long a message to the effect that if he ever got his hands on Long he would kill him; and that if Long were elected to the house of representatives he would not only kill the ——, but would stamp his body in the dust."

Two ministers, residing at Wagener, swear that Gunter's attitude toward Long was exceedingly bitter and hostile, and that they advised Gunter to drop this attitude, while another declares that Gunter told him "Wagener ain't big enough to hold us both, and if he comes back here I'll thrash him, or one of us will kill the other."

SENATE FIXES TARIFF LOWER THAN HOUSE

Contrary to Expectation, Finance Committee Will Report Lower Tariff

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Contrary to expectation and precedent, the tariff bill, when it comes from the Democratic majority of the senate, promises to carry lower rates than when it passed the house.

Finance subcommittees are nearly through with their prolonged task of readjusting schedules, and members are unanimous in their statements that the margin of readjustment has been downward.

Some increases in the rates on cotton yarns and more expensive textile fabrics, such as tapestries, have been agreed on, but in the chemical, metal, agricultural and sundries schedules practically all the revision has been for decreases, and the free list will be considerably enlarged.

EVERGLADES DRAINAGE BILL READY FOR GOVERNOR

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 4.—The six million dollar bond issue bill for the completion of the drainage in the everglades passed the senate today with only one vote against it, that of Senator Johnson, who stated in an interview that he feared the effects of the bill on the small land owners and regarded it as a scheme on the part of the big owners to eventually control the entire territory.

There would have been a fight over the bill in the senate with the probable effect of defeat if Senator Calkins had not offered an amendment providing that only the drainage territory and not the entire state should be obligated. This was the point of disagreement and was accepted. The bill is certain to be approved as it is an administration measure.

Florida today took the first decisive step in providing for an Indian reservation the senate having passed the bill for setting aside 235,000 acres in Palm Beach and Monroe counties.

A bill passed similar to those for Jacksonville, Tampa and Pensacola giving submerged lands to the municipalities for docks and other improvements.

"For we shall follow as brave a dream"—W. E. Henley.

Let me see, with hesitancy
Just what dreaming necromancy
I shall pick to suit my fancy—

Shall it be the home club winning as the closing clout is done?
Through a hectic extra inning ere the final score is spun?
Shall it be the blazing glory
Of a pennant copping story?
Where we reach the next world series with the same as good as won?
Where we have a Matty ready,
Or a Johnson, primed and steady,
Or perhaps a Franklin Baker as we need the winning run?

Let me see with meditation,
Just what height of dream elation
I shall give consideration—

Shall it be some titled tourney with the final round to spin
With the only Jerry Travers and myself remaining in?
Where I whirl the cleek and brassie
Like a Vardon or a Massy
And I flip my short approaches like a Travis to a pin!
Where I'm deadly from the tees
Sinking only "twos" and "threes"
And I have him Dormy seven with a two-inch putt to win?

Let me see, with circumspection,
In this dream-embowered section
What is nearest to perfection?

Shall it be around the table with the blue chips on the plush
As my rivals keep on raising till I'm getting shy of cash?
As I hear them lightly saying
'These'll do," and softly praying
I draw one amid a quiver as the room is in a hush—
Where the betting grows appalling
Till at last I hear them calling
And I've nothing there to show them—but a little Royal Flush?

THE RECENT DEAL.

As we understand the situation, having lamped both sides of the comment now, Chance and Callahan both put over a wonder deal. Chance will play better ball for the White Sox than he ever played for the Yanks and Zeider and Borton will play better ball for the Yanks than they ever played for the White Sox.

Both clubs thereby will be strengthened immensely. While all goes to show that a trade was never made in which both clubs didn't get all the best of it.

We recall for example a trade in which Jack Knight was exchanged for Gabby Street. Judging by conflicting comments both sides drew all the edge. It was for both clubs "a great swap" in March. And in May both were back in the minors.

THE 1000 CLUB.

John McGraw, so M. F. H. informs us, and correctly, won his 1,000th victory for New York on Decoration or Memorial Day. This brings up the 1,000 game winners to five names in the forty-three-year history of the major leagues. The others were Anson, of Chicago; Selee, of Boston; Clarke, of Pittsburg, and Mack, of the Athletics. Chance was on his way to the 1,000 mark to full speed until they laid him a stymie in the semblance of the Yanks.

Handling the Cubs Chance would have achieved his 1,000 wins by 1914 at the latest as he had already run down 750 victories or more. Traveling at the rate the Yanks are going he will attain his 1,000 majority in 1932—which is not a matter of opinion but of cold-blooded mathematical precision as outlined by the laws of ample addition.

His physicians hope that the patient will be able to see his team play when it comes back from the western trip.

RENEL'S MACHINE THREW ALBRIGHT TO HIS DEATH

French Champion Says Blowing of Tires is the Worst of All Dangers

BY GEORGES RENEL
(The French Champion.)

I could write you about my "closest call" much better in my native French, I think, but probably less would understand it.

I have been riding so many years—twelve in all—that I have had many narrow escapes. I have gone down time and again both in this country and in France. I took two falls in Chicago last year. But I have not been really hurt in many, many years.

My last really serious accident and my closest call came in France ten years ago. I was riding a Peugeot motorcycle. Yes, it was built by the same people who built the racing automobile that has just won your 500-mile race at Indianapolis.

We were riding at Marseilles on a kilometer dirt track. There were ten men in the race. We were going our very best, which was pretty good when, presto! the man in front blew a tire and went down in a heap.

I wish I could tell you how close the call was, but I don't know what happened. I was in the pack, just behind the leader. I have forgotten even his name. I saw him go and the next second we all of us went, whirling and tumbling along the ground. Five went down in all. Whether I was second or last I cannot tell. Nobody ever knew just what happened.

When I finally was still there we lay, five of us, all sprawled over the track, with machines wrecked all over the ground.

I didn't get up and by and by they picked me up and carried me to a hospital. The pain was terrible, but I could not tell where it was the worst. The doctors came, looked me over and told me my hip was broken.

All the others were hurt, too, but none fatally. I don't know yet how it happened that I escaped.

The worst danger in riding is from tires. When they blow, especially if the front one, you may as well look out for a fall. What I fear worst is a rim-cut tire. There is especial danger when you ride with a machine with open ports. The oil gets in every little cut or scratch and rots it.

The machine I am riding had a sad history. It is the machine that Johnny Albright was riding when he was killed at Newark.

GEORGE RENEL.

But it is all in the game. We all know our time may come any time, but we do not worry. I have been at it twelve years, and I am alive yet. And twelve years is a long time.

Cornell Crews Off

ITHACA, N. Y., June 6.—The Cornell crew's varsity eight, varsity four and freshman eight left here last night for Poughkeepsie, there to remain in training for the intercollegiate regatta on June 21. Practically the entire student body gave the oarsmen a sendoff.

Dean Frank Irvine, Cornell's member of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing association, resigned yesterday as head of the university athletic council. Prof. H. E. Dederick was elected in his place. Dean Irvine will continue, however, to represent Cornell in rowing.

Tigers Buy New Men

DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—The Detroit baseball club has purchased Pitcher Grimes and First Baseman Burns from Ottumwa, of the Central association. Grimes, a right-hander, has won eleven straight games and has not been scored on in thirty successive innings.

Players' "Frat" Still on Job

NEW YORK, June 6.—Some of the reasons why baseball players in the big leagues want to change the system under which they are farmed out to minor league clubs at salaries less than those called for in their original contracts, are contained in a letter written by David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, to August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, and made public today.

"There can be no intelligent denial," reads Mr. Fultz's letter, "of the soundness of the principle that so long as the players are held under a signed contract he must receive the salary the contract calls for. The common practice of forcing men to go to other teams and allowing those teams arbitrarily to cut their salaries can have neither legal nor moral justification.

"You say after the player is transferred it is a question of negotiation between him and his new owner. How can it be a question of negotiating when the player is compelled by your regulations to sign with one particular team or quit his profession? There can be no negotiation when one party is absolutely at the mercy of the other; it then becomes a question of duress.

"When the situation is reversed and the major league recruit plays far better ball than he is expected to, he can't switch on his agreement and refuse to play unless he gets more money.

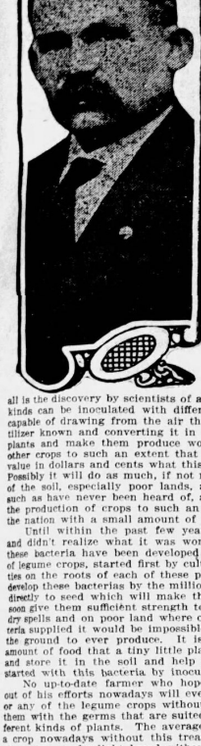
Incoulation a Wonderful Discovery



INOCULATION covers a wide range of different things, and undoubtedly this word used in many ways probably means as much to the world, if not more, than any one thing I know of. For instance, in the treatment or prevention of all kinds of diseases different kinds of bacteria are used for inoculation to prevent or cure various diseases, and with science which has so perfected and enlightened the world to such an extent that it is now possible to control or keep in check nearly every kind of contagious disease by inoculation in some form or other. The same thing can be said in detecting diseases of people and animals by injecting certain kinds of serum into the living specimens, and by this inoculation by bringing certain germs in contact with each other discovers diseases as well as prevents them. In testing for tuberculosis for people and cattle it is something more than wonderful the way this operation is done and how easily it is to detect this dreaded disease in an animal or person after they have been inoculated with certain kinds of serum. In the prevention of hog cholera and many other kinds of contagious diseases the same wonderful discovery is made use of by inoculating the animals with certain kinds of bacteria to make them immune is equally as interesting and wonderful and in preventing diseases in poultry it is now being extensively used.

But, the most wonderful thing of all is the discovery by scientists of a method by which legume plants of all kinds can be inoculated with different kinds of bacteria and make them capable of drawing from the air the most valuable and highest priced fertilizer known and converting it in the nodules on the roots of these plants and make them produce wonderful crops and enrich the soil for other crops to such an extent that no one can really estimate the actual value in dollars and cents what this discovery will be worth to the nation. Possibly it will do as much, if not more, towards increasing the fertility of the soil, especially poor lands, and helping produce wonderful yields, such as have never been heard of, and more than ten times over increase the production of crops to such an extent that it will be possible to feed the nation with a small amount of labor and a few acres of land.

Until within the past few years the people gave little but little thought and didn't realize what it was worth, but within the past year or so as these bacteria have been developed and grown suited to nearly all kinds of legume crops, started first by cultures that were grown in small quantities on the roots of each of these plants. Science has made it possible to develop these bacteria by the millions from properties and apply them directly to seed which will make them support the weakest of plants and soon give them sufficient strength to take care of themselves even through dry spells and on poor land where otherwise if they did not have this bacteria supplied it would be impossible for them to grow a crop at all in the ground to ever produce. It is something more than wonderful the amount of food that a tiny little plant from the pure fresh air and store it in the soil and help strengthen the plant when it is once started with this bacteria by inoculating the seed.

No up-to-date farmer who hopes to make a large per cent of profit out of his efforts nowadays will ever think of planting peas, beans, clover or any of the legume crops without first treating the seed or inoculating them with the germs that are suited for the successful growing of the different kinds of plants. The average farmer will no more attempt to grow a crop nowadays without this treatment any more so than a baker will attempt to make light bread without the use of a yeast cake.

Thousands of bottles of this culture are now being shipped to all parts of the world and it is certainly helping the entire world to produce wonderful crops on land that five to seven years ago was never ever thought of. With the valuable information that is sent with nearly all of this culture it enables even a novice to successfully use same and grow such yields as were never heard of before, and store in the soil at a cost of 25 per acre fully $10 to $20 worth of fertilizer per acre if it had to be bought in a commercial way. The beauty of it all is that you know positively you will get the benefit of this fertilizer and it will become available because it is applied directly to the roots of the growing crops.

With these wonderful bacterias that are growing of peas, which are the salvation to the country and are doing more to enrich our soils and help us make profitable crops and make the lands suitable for producing heavy yields for most any kinds of crops to follow peas. It is fast learning us that most any acre of land in this country can be grown at $100 to $500 per acre compared to the revenue that can be derived from it at a small cost when these bacterias or inoculations can be had so conveniently and are so successfully used by every one who has tried them. It has made it possible to grow alfalfa on any land anywhere in the country and make a success every time from our understandings if carefully followed and instructions are carried out which are simple and furnished with every bottle of inoculation that is sold. Anyone who is interested in farm crops or the future welfare of our country cannot afford to keep in the darkness any longer but should become enlightened on this subject and take advantage of the opportunities that are now offered us to get the largest per cent of profit out of our farm crops. It seems that farming is in its infancy and every year something new turns up to help nature utilize the many valuable things that are put here for man to convert into wealth when brains and energy are put to work on them. Those who are not posted on these subjects should become so at once as plenty free literature is now offered describing fully these wonderful discoveries, and inoculation to the farming public has become more valuable than it is to medical science.

Yours very truly,

Lowry Brown

FOR SALE AT

AUCTION TOMORROW

SIX UP-TO-DATE HOMES

And 19 Ready-to-Build-on Lots

SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1913

At 3 p. m., on the Premises

THESE are 5 and 6-room houses, with every city convenience and connection, including furnace in several of the houses, but no gas as yet. These houses were built of the best material, under the personal direction of Colonel I. N. Ragsdale, who could not be induced to build a shoddy house.

These houses are real city homes, located in the social center of the Tenth Ward, and only a step from the best car service in Atlanta.

We urge you to go out and inspect this property. Each house will be plainly placarded, showing cash payment and monthly payments; also the amount of the loan to be assumed.

THESE HOUSES ARE NOW RENTED, and bring in from $18.50 to $30.00 per month. Think of what a help that will be to you, in meeting your payments, should you not be ready to occupy the house.

The houses and lots front on the following streets:

Arlington Avenue, Princess Avenue, and LaRosa Terrace.

Arlington avenue runs off of Lee Street, right at Colonel Ragsdale's handsome home. Princess avenue runs off of Avon (Oakland) avenue, between the Baptist church and Captain E. P. Ryan's fine home, giving the property two approaches, each of which is a prominent street.

THIS SECTION HAS NO OBJECTIONABLE FEATURE

It is logically the place for the people to live who are engaged in business, or who are employed among the many industrial and manufacturing and railroad enterprises around the Terminal Station, Whitehall street, Mitchell street, and Central and West Point railroads, and the adjacent territory. The car service and the way the streets run prove these statements to be true. Think about it, and you'll see it as we do.

THE LOTS ARE READY TO BUILD ON

These are the lots to buy, either for home sites or for speculation, because they are ready to build on. In addition to this, every lot is a beauty, with nice young oak shade trees scattered over them. Also, because their location is excellent. They are only a short distance from the business center of Oakland City. Only two blocks from the City Schools, and near the churches; and the farthest lot is only two blocks from the car line; and, best of all, they are socially in the swim, and

ALL CITY IMPROVEMENTS DOWN AND PAID FOR.

THE TERMS ON THE HOUSES

Will range from $150 to $250 cash, and the payments will range from $22.50 per month to $32.50 per month, with 6 per cent simple interest. Small loan on five of the houses, to be assumed by the purchaser.

THE TERMS ON THE LOTS

are right. Every lot will be sold on terms of $50 cash, and the balance $15 per month, with only 6 per cent simple interest on the deferred payments.

HOW TO GET THERE—Take cars at the corner of Forsyth and Alabama streets, marked "East Point," "Hapeville" or "College Park." Get off at the corner Avon (Oakland) avenue. You will then be only a step from this property.

COME AND BE SURE TO BUY—You will never regret it if you do, and you will be sorry if you don't. Get plans from

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Permit for $12,500 Given Negroes for Building on Bell Street—Building Value Thus Far in 1913 Less Than $600,000 Behind Same Period in 1912—Lot in Druid Hills Changes Hands—Asa G. Candler Buys Chicago Property

A building permit was on Friday granted to the "Independent Benevolent Order," a negro organization, for a three-story brick building at No. 161 Bell street, which will cost $12,500.

This building will consist of stores on the ground floor, offices on the second and an auditorium on the third.

Although everybody had been predicting a sharp decline in building values, the showing thus far in 1913 is not at all bad as compared with the corresponding period last year. The value is less than $600,000 behind the corresponding period in 1912.

The 1912 total was $10,000,000, which broke all records and set a formidable pace to follow, as two skyscrapers, a hotel and big apartment house, to say nothing of the new court house, happened to be bunched during the year.

That record will hardly be duplicated this year, but at the rate we are going the total value for 1913 should be in the neighborhood of $8,000,000.

WHITEHALL GRADE.

Now that the city council has agreed, as set forth in detail under a separate heading, to appropriate $3,500 for two blocks of regrading on Whitehall street between Mitchell and Garnett streets, some important building announcements may be expected on that thoroughfare shortly.

Charles H. Black, C. E. Currier and several other property owners will build as soon as they can be assured of a certain grade. Work will be started in October.

DRUID HILLS SALE.

The Martin-Ozburn Realty company has sold for Eugene Ragland to C. B. Durham a vacant lot on the Williams Mill road, in Druid Hills, east of the former Smith residence, for $5,500, or $55 a front foot. The lot is 100x500.

MR. CANDLER'S PURCHASE.

Asa G. Candler has added to his out-of-town holdings through the action of a skyscraper in New York, and the purchase of a property in Washington, comes the announcement of another purchase in Chicago. Mr. Candler will improve his Chicago property with a ten-story building to cost $300,000. The following dispatch gives the details of the Chicago transaction:

CHICAGO, June 6.—Asa G. Candler, president of the Coca-Cola company, of Atlanta, has bought from Florence E. Hoops, Francis A. Emmons, Jr., Georgiana B. Herrmann and Rhoda P. Emmons, heirs of Rezin Lancaster, the property at 1330 South Wabash avenue, 22 by 145 feet, for the reported price of $28,000, or $1,254 a front foot.

The holding adjoins on the south 92 feet owned by Mr. Candler, the present purchase giving a total frontage of 114 1-3 feet to the purchaser.

ENGLAND TO BUILD THREE DREADNAUGHTS

Work on Giant Battleships Will Commence Immediately

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 6.—The British government has decided to lay down three battleships of the present year's naval program immediately instead of next March as originally planned.

This measure is taken in consequence of the rejection by the Canadian senate of the naval aid bill to appropriate $35,000,000 for the construction of three dreadnoughts for the British navy.

Saving and Investing

MERELY A SUGGESTION.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON.

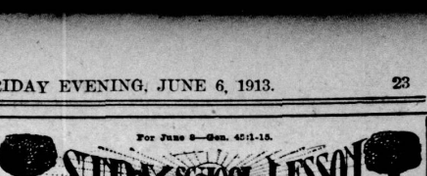
The other day I read Miss Wooley's account of the reformation of an extravagant husband. She simply won from extravagance and drink by the wife, and her method seemed to me to be broad and effective. She simply bought things which they couldn't pay for, and the husband had to hustle harder and harder to meet the payments. Having to hustle and save his money, he couldn't, in the nature of things, continue to drink and sport.

While I think that article it occurred to me that the wife had hit upon a remedy for economic extravagance and incompetence which can be used in a perfectly humane way. But I should not put the remedy in the hands of wives; I believe that it ought to be in the medicine cabinet of parents.

Parents know only too well how fast grows the desire in children to acquire things. Ordinarily the parents try hard to make the kids discriminate between what is worth getting and keeping and what is not. The usual result is that the well trained child grows up believing that certain things count, and that certain other things don't. Their desires and their incentive to work to gain their desires are limited in this way.

I would suggest that the parents impose upon the getting program of their children just one condition—that they shall pay for everything in some way. When Bob gets a sled, have it clearly understood just what it is to cost Bob—in errands done, in pennies earned, in money paid out of an allowance. When he wants something else let him have it if he can show you a way to finish paying for the sled and the new thing, too. When he can no longer show you a clear road to the settlement of every debt he owes then shut down on him tight.

Once shut off absolutely from the acquisition of something which seems acutely desirable, your child will get a valuable, concrete illustration of the necessity for financing himself. It will be the beginning of the sort of reform which will last. When that child is married the need for the sort of discipline described by Miss Wooley will not exist.



For June 8—Gen. 42:1-15.

Golden Text: "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."—Ps. 133:1.

The self-sacrificing spirit of Judah, and the thought of his father's sufferings was too much for the prime minister. He ordered the attendants to withdraw, and stood in the room alone with the eleven sons of Jacob. He was overcome with his emotion, and wept as a manly man would.

The brothers' state of mind can better be imagined than described, particularly when the veil was lifted from their eyes, and they learned that all along they had been dealing with their brother whom they had hated, had tried to destroy, had sold into slavery, and had lied about to their father for twenty-two years. They must have been the sweetest kind of music in their ears to have heard from his own lips the name of their long lost brother, but it was not. It struck such terror to their hearts as can scarcely be described, They were agitated beyond measure; they did not know what his next step would be. They knew well what it should be if they were treated as they deserved; and the fear of that, of losing their dearest possession—life itself—and of leaving their little ones destitute—oh, it was enough to disturb them greatly. But in spite of all that was in those words, I have tried to give them the same tone he did, but I cannot. Nor do I try to say that every word was weighted with tenderness, forgiveness and love. Joseph had recognized, had tested, had proven his brothers and had forgiven them; for in spite of all their meanness and cruelty he had never ceased to love them. He did not punish them, for he soon recognized that the great God had overruled their wickedness and had made it fit into His plans for the salvation of His people. He had learned from his intimate fellowship with God to look into the depths of His plans, and to realize that "all is right that seems most wrong if it be Thy sweet will."

The brothers had last seen him to recognize him as a slave sold into bondage by them, and now they see him in all his glory as the ruler of all Egypt.

I have been thinking of a day—how near it is, I cannot tell, but hope that it is not far distant—when we shall stand in those brothers' shoes before our great Brother, Jesus Christ. He was sold for the price of a slave, He was delivered into bondage, He by His life and because of our perfidy and wickedness. He has dealt with us most mercifully. He has put us to the test many a time; He has invited us to sit with Him at His banquet board, and has honored us with the choicest of gifts. On that day of which I am thinking He shall manifest Himself to us suddenly. The veil will be removed from our eyes, and we shall see the Suffering Bondslave of Jehovah as the reigning King of kings. We shall see the King in His beauty, in all His glory. We shall see what we owe Him, in His power absolutely, and be conscious as never before of our sin against Him. All other sins will sink into insignificance; we shall realize what we have done that has grieved Him.

I am wondering what your feelings will be when you be troubled at His presence? They were because they had sinned against him. But suppose they had heard from him and had accepted his proffer of pardon, would they have been troubled to find themselves in His presence? or would they have rejoiced with great joy?

I know in a small measure how I shall feel when Jesus is manifested in all His glory. I shall be glad to see Him more than I have ever rejoiced to see anyone, that I may show Him how I thank Him for all His mercies to me. I shall be regretful that I have not done more for Him, that I have not obeyed Him immediately every time He has suggested a step for me, and that therefore my bouquet of flowers for Him is not as large as it might have been. But even that sorrow shall be overshadowed by that great joy I shall have in being with my Redeemer who has purchased me with His own blood and cleansed me by His Spirit.

How your shall feel depends entirely on how you are obeying Him now. Test your life by the coming of Christ. What will it mean to you—sorrow or joy?

FOR JOSEPH'S SAKE.

Joseph called his brothers to come near; he wept with joy on Benjamin's neck; and then kissed each one of the other ten. "After that"—notice the significant phrase—they talked with him. They were in his revealed presence, until he showed them in the most tender way his full forgiveness of them. After that their tongues were loosened and they talked with him freely and fully.

I imagine they confessed their sin against him, and their sorrow for it, first of all. I am sure he asked them all about the old home, his father, the children, and the things that would have interested nobody else, but were of intense interest to him.

It didn't take long for the news to get through the palace. News of that kind flies faster than bad news. It soon reached the ears of Pharaoh, who was so interested that he put himself out to do the proper thing. He ordered supplies given them for the journey back and insisted that they should return with their father and families as soon as they could make the journey. Not only were supplies of food given, but wagons were provided so that they could bring their families with the least difficulty and greatest comfort. Furthermore they were told that when they returned they could have their choice—the whole land of Egypt was before them to use as they pleased.

Now, why all of this great generosity? A few hours before they had stood in the presence of royalty. They had come asking the privilege of buying grain enough to keep their families from starving in the midst of a famine-stricken country. They had not done anything to merit it; in fact, what they had done merited just the opposite. Why was it done? It was for Joseph's sake, for what he had done. The king delighted to do anything for his brethren, that would show his appreciation of what Joseph had done for him and his people.

My brethren, believers in Jesus Christ, adopted sons of God, all things are ours. The riches of earth and of heaven have been placed at our disposal to use as we please. If God spared not His own Son shall He not with Him freely give us all things? The world has been placed at our disposal, the wisdom, the power, the purity, the love of God; yes, the life of God is at our disposal. Why do we not avail ourselves to deserve it? No, a thousand times, no. We merit just the opposite. But it is ours for Jesus' sake. God the Father delights to honor us for what Jesus did.

Is He yours? Have you been reconciled to Him? Listen. He calls you to come near, that He may kiss away your fears, and talk with you. Will you come?

FRISCO ROAD ATTACKED ON FLOOR OF CONGRESS

Congressman Hinebaugh Declares That Advanced Rates Are Asked

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A spirited attack on the financial management of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad was made in the house today by Representative Hinebaugh, of Illinois, in a speech urging the adoption of his resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to investigate the operations of the company now in receivership.

"This resolution should be passed," he said, "and an investigation made if for no other reason than this receivership had already been given as a reason why freight rates should be raised. As usual, the public is asked to hold the bag and pay the fiddler when the operations of these gentlemen who are given to frenzied finance are brought to a halt.

"Many persons who have bought securities this company has sold during the last three years are anxious to know now what portion of that money found its way into the treasury of the company and how much was diverted into the pockets of certain officials.

"I am more than satisfied that a thorough investigation by the interstate commerce commission will demonstrate that the Frisco system under the managements of Yoakum has never been conducted as a legitimate transportation company but that it has been made a basis of tremendous jobbing scheme to enrich the men who have been in a position to manipulate its securities. I believe it will also be found that great volumes of the stocks and bonds of this company have been sold far in excess of the true value of the tangible property owned by the company."

Representative Hinebaugh charged that the receivership was snot actually necessary.

ADMINISTRATION STRONG FOR PURE FOOD LAWS

Dr. Carl Alsbeg Addresses Wholesale Grocers Gathered at Atlantic City

(By Associated Press.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—There has been and will be no step backward in the enforcement of the pure food laws under the new administration, Dr. Carl Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, today told the National Wholesale Grocers' association in annual session here. He added, however, "that the administration of the law will gain in effectiveness if coupled with a policy of education and instruction."

Dr. Alsberg said he hoped to make the chemistry bureau as valuable to the consumer as the department of agriculture as a whole had been to the farmer.

"One of the great needs of the times," he continued, "is more science in the manufacture of goods. Here in the United States the business of food manufacture has advanced with extraordinary rapidity. We no longer 'live at home,' as they say in the south. Our table is dependent on the distant grocer, the distant manufacturer. The food problem is not a problem of the home or even of the locality. It is a problem nationwide.

"The transformation of the food industry has been so rapid that abuses could not fall to creep into it. The old household methods are often bad when applied to the new, as new methods had to be devised. Under pressure of competition, these have not always been improved. Thus many practices have become established that are hard to eradicate. It must be one of the duties of the department of agriculture to study all these processes, to improve good ones and discover substitutes for the bad. It must also be its function to develop methods of utilizing by-products and of using as food many things which are not now utilized.

"Much work of this type already has been done in the department of agriculture, but it is hoped to make this work the dominant note of the bureau's policy."

FRENCH SUFFRAGISTS DEPLORE MILITANCY

Mme. Jules Siegfried Says Militant Suffragettes Are Enemies to Cause

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, June 6.—Mme. Jules Siegfried, wife of a former French cabinet minister and president of the French National Association of Women, is strongly opposed to the tactics adopted by the militant suffragettes.

In an interview published here today she refers to the derby incident when Miss Emily Davison, threw herself in front of the king's horse "in the name of freedom for women."

"Many of the delegates to the international congress of women, now in session in Paris, look upon such manifestations with intense disapproval," says Mme Siegfried.

"The militant suffragettes are behaving as though they are insane. Their dangerous demonstration hurt the cause of womankind. There are in England as well as in France great numbers of feminists who pursue their aims without employing bolsterous expedients to attract attention. Such practices as those adopted by the militant suffragettes savor of charlatanism and turn our cause into ridicule. They are our enemies."

Lady Aberdeen, president of the International Council of Women, said:

"We condemn without mercy these senseless acts. The aim of our efforts is that men and women should be equal. The realization of ideas of Mrs. Pimmeline Pankhurst would provoke a revolution of which women would be the sole victims."

Miss Davison's Condition Grows Serious Friday

(By Associated Press.)

EPSOM, England, June 6.—The condition of Miss Emily Davison, militant suffragette who was so seriously injured while interfering with the king's horse in the derby on Wednesday, became much worse today. She passed a restless night and the doctors considered the symptoms grave. An operation probably will be necessary.

DIABETIC LEG AMPUTATED

Physicians knew that operations on diabetics are nearly always fatal, operations commonly making new centers for gangrene, which often shows in this disease. Therefore, the following successful operation on a diabetic will interest physicians and diabetics generally.

Patient, a San Francisco business man, was taken to the St. Winifred Hospital suffering with a gangrened leg. It was an old case of diabetes and the gangrene had extended so far that the severance was between the knee and thigh.

The physician did not attempt the operation till he had eliminated the sugar with Fulton's Diabetic Compound. The consulting physicians felt it would be fatal, but the operating physician knew what he could do in such cases after he had eliminated the sugar, and proceeded with the operation.

The fourteenth day the stitches were removed, the wound showing healthful pink color. The patient left the hospital the fourth week.

The operation was based on the ability of Fulton's Diabetic Compound to eliminate the sugar in diabetes. If you have diabetes and are of middle age or over you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Diabetic Compound before giving up. It can be had at Frank Edmondson & Bro., 11 N. Broad St. and 108 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Wiley Wins Bet But Loses Handful Of Hair to a Baby

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist of the department of agriculture and "pure food" champion, is minus a handful of hair, as the result of a wager made with a friend at the Cosmos club. It developed today that Dr. Wiley to prove his theory that a proper diet was essential for the welfare of young children, cited the case of his own baby, who is not yet one year old.

"I haven't much hair to spare," said Dr. Wiley, "but if my youngster can't yank out a handful or two of it, just to illustrate his strength I'll buy you a new hat."

The scoffer, who happened to be a close friend of the Wiley family, accepted the offer. The Wiley baby "made good" the denuded spot on Dr. Wiley's pate now is covered by the hat the unbeliever was forced to buy.

SEVENTY WOUNDED IN GERMAN STRIKE RIOT

Police Quell Disturbance by Use of Sabres and Pistols. One Killed

STETTIN, Germany, June 6.—A battle between police and strikers, in which seventy persons were severely wounded, was fought last night in the suburb of Frauendorf as the sequel to the killing of a striker by a non-striker.

Workers in a chicory factory went on strike some time ago. Last evening one of them molested a man who had continued at work, and in the fight which ensued the striker was stabbed and killed.

The striker's comrades later gathered in front of the factory and demanded that the non-striker be handed over to them. Their request was refused and they threatened to demolish the factory.

The local police were unable to cope with the angry strikers and reinforcements were called for from Stettin. Shortly afterward a body of 300 armed policemen arrived in automobiles from headquarters in Stettin and a pitched battle between them and the strikers occurred.

The police freely used their sabers and revolvers. The strikers replied with pistol shots, but were soon overcome by the disciplined force. They were finally dispersed, leaving many of their number wounded on the ground.

The casualties were in some cases of a severe nature. Ten policemen and about sixty civilians were treated by surgeons during the night.

Park May Extend From Washington Up to Baltimore

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The establishment of a wide stretching park, under federal control, extending from Washington to Baltimore, is to be pressed by leading citizens of the capital, among them a present commissioner of the District of Columbia and his predecessor.

The board of trade has appointed a committee which will today begin an investigation of the question. A general survey of the territory between the two cities will be made, options will be obtained and a general idea obtained as to the cost of property by condemnation.

The project is not a new one, but this is the first time that organized effort has been made to outline a general plan. The park would be designated a federal forest reserve and be subject to federal regulations. The stretch between the two cities is a favorite route for automobilists.
